RACE AMALGAMATION GREAT NEED

Below will be found the fifth of a series of articles by "Observer" discussing conditions in various South American countries. "Observer" has just made a comprehensive tour of these regions for "The Tribune."

BY OBSERVER.

Brazil differs from all other Latin American countries in having been settled by Portuguese instead of Spaniards, and in having for a time been the seat of the government of a European power. These two facts have been responsible for a number of fundamental differences between Brazil and the remaining Latin American states.

The Portuguese differed but little from the Spaniards in their desire to find gold rather than to settle the country, their establishment of the big estate system, their abuse of the Indian, leading to his virtual extermination, and the substitution of negro slaves to supply the necessary labor.

They apparently lacked, however, all race prejudice and have intermarried with the negro, mixing their blood in a way the Spaniard never would have done. This has prevented class distinction to such an extent as exists in the Spanish American countries, pride of blood counting for less and achievement financially counting for more. In other words, where in the other countries claim to aristocracy rests primarily on pureness of Spanish blood, in Brazil it is money which counts, blood and even color having little to do with it.

On the other hand, this absorption of the blood of an inferior race by a race such as the Portuguese, who are none too highly developed themselves, is undoubtedly responsible for many of the serious defects of the Brazilian character.

Brazil an Empire in 1815.

When Napoleon entered Portugal in 1807 the royal family fled to Brazil and established themselves there. In 1815 Brazil was raised from the rank of a colony to that of an integral part of the empire of Portugal, Brazil, and Algarves, the king of Portugal, Joao II., becoming emperor. In 1821 the emperor returned to Portugal, leaving his son as regent.

This being about the time at which the remaining Latin American countries had achieved their independence, Brazil had no desire to revert to the position of a colony. As the result of this feeling in 1822 a revolutionary movement brought about the separation of the two countries, the regent becoming the first emperor of independent Brazil. His son, Dom Pedro II., was the second and last emperor, being deposed by a practically peaceful revolution in 1889, which established a republic.

The rule of Joao VI. and Pedro II. considerably benefited Brazil. Joao VI. took a collection of colonies struggling among themselves, and by showing them their common interest gave rise to a feeling of nationality which had not existed previously.

Pedro II., because of the confidence which he was able to inspire in Europe, secured the necessary foreign loans to put Brazil on a sound financial basis. He recognized the great need of communication throughout the country, so encouraged the building of railways, both by the government and by foreign capital.

Fills Need with Immigration.

The greatest good done by him was his recognition of the necessity for European immigration, which he brought about and encouraged. Not only were Europeans urged to come as laborers, but also as settlers. Through this emperor's foresight, the most difficult of all Latin American problems was solved for Brazil.

All Latin American countries need European immigration. By some of them this fact is recognized; by many of them it is not. Whether recognized or not, all with the exception of Argentina and Brazil, do not or will not see that even the lowest type of European labor is not going to enter a country in which they will have to work under virtually feudal conditions. As for encouraging Europeans to come as settlers by offering them small lots of land free or on easy terms, the desire is entirely lacking, for this would mean the breaking up of the big estates.

Without this immigration condition Brazil would probably have grown steadily worse as the mixture between negro and Portuguese blood progressed. Particularly would this have been so after the overthrow of the monarchy; it would have placed a so-called democratic government in the hands of a people with no real conception of democracy.

Many Germans in Brazil.

Fortunately for Brazil, however, both German and Italian immigrants came in considerable numbers. The Germans have settled and taken up land in the southern province of Rio Grande do Sul. They have kept their own language and customs.

During the first years of their occupancy they kept their love of Germany. This, however, they no longer have to the extent that they would permit their use by the German government should it ever possess any ambition to occupy Brazil. These people, while remaining apart from and seldom

LOSES DIAMOND NECKLACE; CHANCELLOR'S TRAIN WAITS.

Search Fruitless, Mrs. Dickinson, Wife of Former War Secretary, Leaves Albany, N. Y., with Party.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 31.—The discovery that Mrs. Jacob M. Dickinson, wife of the former secretary of war, lost a handbag containing a diamond necklace and other jewelry held up the special train of Lord Chancellor Haldane until early this morning.

Mrs. Dickinson attended the dinner given last night in the lord chancellor's honor, just before the distinguished visitors resumed their journey to Montreal. She was on the way to the train when she discovered her loss.

The taxicab in which Mrs. Dickinson rode to the station and the hotel dining chamber and dressing rooms were searched without result. Mr. and Mrs. Dickinson finally proceeded to Montreal with the rest of the party.

Notice of a reward of $200 for the return of the jewelry was wired to the hotel management today.

New York, Aug. 31.—[Special.]—George Roy Parker, former servant in Theodore Roosevelt's home, Sagamore Hill, Oyster Bay, who robbed the former president and members of his family of jewels valued at more than $5,000, was removed to the Nassau county jail at Mineola today.

Although Parker had confessed the night before to Justice Walter Franklin he had robbed his former employer, he was still obdurate today in his refusal to reveal the hiding place of the costly articles which are being sought by a squad of detectives.

The principal article still missing, and about which the entire Roosevelt household is greatly concerned, is the gold watch fob bearing the colonel's coat of arms and valued at $1,600. The piece is an heirloom prized by the Roosevelts at far above its intrinsic value.

NORTHUP REVEALS REAL EXTENT OF ELECTION FRAUDS

GIVES STORY OF HIS FIGHT

Beneficiaries of Crime at Polls Accused of Using All Means to Stop Him.

GOES AFTER MEN HIGHER UP

Special State's Attorney John E. Northup yesterday told an audience of thousands the inside story of his battle to bring to light and punish the men responsible for the frauds in the Cook county election of November, 1912.

Speaking in the open air at Riverview park, Mr. Northup addressed a huge assemblage of workingmen attending the Socialist picnic. For the first time in public he discussed the progress of his work as prosecutor for the special grand jury now investigating the election crimes.

William A. Cunnea, socialist candidate for state's attorney last fall, who was billed as the principal speaker of the picnic, did not appear. His absence was explained by the chairman as due to fatigue from travel.

Crowd Demands More.

When the special state's attorney had concluded his denunciation of the ballot thieves cries of "More" and "Go on" voiced by thousands urged him to continue. With the consent of the other speakers on the platform, William E. Rodrigues prevailed upon Mr. Northup to prolong his speech, which he brought to an end later with the following quotation from Whittier's "The Eve of Election":

Not lightly fall
Beyond recall
The writer's scrolls, a breath can float.
The
The kingliest act
Of Freedom is the freeman's vote.

"All good Socialists, Democrats, Republicans, Progressives—all good citizens, hold one ideal," Mr. Northup said. "That ideal is the sanctity of the ballot.

"When a blow is struck at that all-American principle of freedom we meet on an equal basis as one solid party of men to resist that blow as we would crush out an intruder or strike at the head of foul and infamous treason.

"I want to call your attention to the magnitude of the shameless crime that was committed at the ballot boxes in Chicago at the last election.

Significant Results of Recount.

"Gross irregularities in the returns resulted in the establishment of a recount in some of the precincts. When the votes had been recounted the results were so significant—so indicative—that the recount was extended to cover all the votes cast.

"As a result of this recount it was conclusively shown that enough votes had been deliberately stolen to place several candidates in office. It was found that the frauds were not confined to certain precincts or wards, but that there had been a general conspiracy throughout all of the different wards to make the election a 'sure thing.'

"What would you think of any court that would pass such a matter by possibly with the expression of hope that it would not occur again? It was all apparent to every sense, including the olefactory, that the condition of affairs should be investigated to the core.

History of Hoyne's Opposition.

"The successful candidate for the office of state's attorney was opposed to any investigation of the matter conducted other than by himself. Then it was that a petition was made for the appointment of a special state's attorney and a special grand jury impartially to investigate the matter.

"Then every one was surprised to find that the state's attorney of Cook county had suddenly changed front, slipped into another court and made a petition of his own for a special state's attorney and a special grand jury to investigate the same frauds. Fortunately for the people of Cook county, Judge Cooper's jury prevailed and has been steadily at the work ever since the appointment, regardless of obstacles from all sources which have been thrown in its way constantly.

"The leading beneficiaries of the crimes and frauds that were perpetrated at the ballot box have been doing everything in their power to block the investigation. The state's attorney of Cook county first held that there should be no investigation and then decided that there should be an investigation, and then decided back again that the Cooper grand jury should not be the investigator. Since that time there seems to have been a widespread tightening of the lines—a city wide attempt to cover up.

Sinister Opposition Shows.

"It appeared as if there was no objection to the Cooper grand jury investigation before the matter came up before the county board for funds. Judges Cooper, Baldwin, and Kersten all asked the board to appropriate the requisite funds. And the money would have been appropriated by a patriotically inclined board. But there appeared consistent opposition to the appropriation, although the patriotic members of the body were in favor of it, and are still.

"Ugly and sinister reports circulated abroad about the dire influence that was brought to bear upon certain members of the board to keep them from voting for the appropriation. It was as though that certain power had gone to those certain members and said: 'You vote that money and see what happens to you.'

"There must have been a strong motive

A SEPTEMBER SYMPOSIUM.

DUBLIN STREETS FULL OF RIOTERS

Five Hundred Persons Hurt in Renewal of Fights with the Police.

LEADER'S ARREST ANGERS

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

DUBLIN, Aug. 31.—There were furious riots in several parts of this city today, especially in Sackville street, where Larkin, one of the leaders of the tramway strikers, for whom a warrant was out for a seditious speech on Friday night, was arrested. During the fighting nearly 500 persons were injured and taken to the different hospitals.

The people began to gather in Sackville street in the forenoon, eager to see what the outcome of the police order prohibiting the holding of a meeting of strikers there today would be. This meeting was scheduled for 1 o'clock in the afternoon, and Larkin, who had torn up the police proclamation prohibiting the meeting during an address on Friday night, had declared he would be there, dead or alive.

Apart from those who were concerned in the present agitation, there were great numbers of curious persons in the street to see whether Larkin would keep his word and see what would happen if he did.

Larkin Keeps His Promise.

Shortly before 1 o'clock a taxicab drew up in front of the Imperial hotel and a fashionably dressed young man helped an old man to alight. The latter was well dressed and wore a long beard. He seemed to be very feeble, and had to be assisted up the steps of the hotel. After entering he went into the smoking room, which faces the street, and sat down for a while.

As the clock struck 1 he walked to the window, which he opened, and stepped in vigorous fashion to the balcony, from which he shouted to the crowd below:

"I am Jim Larkin. I said I would be here, and here I am."

Larkin was immediately recognized, and rounds of laughter and cheers greeted him. At this moment the Countess Markievicz, one of the leaders of the Sinn Fein movement and a daughter of one of the Sligo Unionists, drove up to the hotel in a hackney car and shouted, "Three cheers for Larkin!"

Police Rush and Club Crowd.

The people in other parts of the street on hearing the shouts of "Larkin" and the cheers came running to the hotel, around which thousands of excited people were soon surging.

The police had rushed towards the hotel at the same time as the crowd and began to push the crowd back. Immediately there was trouble, and it was only a matter of a few seconds before those persons in the front ranks of the crowd were dropping under the policemen's clubs.

In a short time dozens of men and women were lying in the street, which was splashed with blood in many places. Others staggered away and tried to staunch the blood which was flowing from their scalps and faces.

All this time there was a pandemonium of shrieks, curses, and taunts. Stones were flying and several among the crowd were hitting back at the police with their fists and canes.

The crowd, however, was unable to stand against the clubs which were being wielded ruthlessly by practiced hands and in a short time the people were fleeing in all directions.

Meanwhile Larkin had been arrested. He made no resistance, and greeted the police superintendent who arrested him with the expression:

"It's all right; I have done what I undertook to do."

The curious people in the crowd, as usual, suffered equally with those who had gathered for the purpose of making trouble, as did also some innocent people who were unaware that anything untoward was going on.

Hemmed In by the Police.

A number of onlookers, when they saw the first police onslaught, stampeded in terror to Princess street, opposite the hotel. The big posse of police stationed there promptly drew their batons, and the unfortunates were thus caught between two fires.

Women and children ran hither and thither screaming at the top of their voices, while the men shouted, some damning the police and others trying to persuade the innocent ones to join them in fighting, but the clubs swung remorselessly until the whole street was cleared.

The meeting was not held, but Larkin, when he was removed to the police station, seemed to be satisfied.

It is worthy of note that the Imperial hotel is owned by Mr. Murphy, the chairman of the tramway company and Larkin's chief antagonist in the present dispute.

Keir Hardie to Help Strikers.

Subsequently a meeting was held in Croydon park, in the suburb of Fairview. Mr. O'Brien, vice president of the Dublin trades council, announced that Keir Hardie, the leading labor member of parliament, was coming here to help the strikers.

The street cars, which were running with strikebreakers, were stoned almost every place they appeared, but the damage was not serious until late in the evening, when a big mob made a general attack on the cars and wrecked several of them. The police repeatedly clubbed the mobs.

Armed Robbers Stop Don River Boat —Terrorize the Passengers and Carry Away Captain for Ransom.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ODESSA, Aug. 31.—Armed robbers stopped the passenger steamer Pater near Bogayevskaya, on the river Don, today. They terrorized the passengers and crew, killed the mate, and stole $40,000. They kidnaped the captain, who is being held for ransom. Four of the robbers, with $10,000 booty in their possession, have been arrested.

CARNEGIE STIRS UP GERMANS.

Ironmaster's Reference to "Blood Stained" Hands of Emperor Meets Disfavor of People.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, Aug. 31.—Some of the German newspapers are horrified at Andrew Carnegie's references to the kaiser in a speech at the dedication of the Peace palace at The Hague, which, they say, were "far too familiar." They say he had no business to refer to the kaiser's hands as not being stained with blood, as German blood shed in battle does not stain the hands of the emperor. One of these papers implores Mr. Carnegie to leave the kaiser out of his masquerades in the future.

FIGHT OVER FARE FATAL TO BOY

Conductor Said to Have Pushed Youth to Street, Fracturing His Skull.

MOB THREATENS DOCTOR.

A fight over his fare on a Blue Island and Twenty-sixth street car last evening is said to have caused the death of 13 year old Anthony Rezac of 1642 South Throop street. It is charged the boy was hurled from the car by the conductor.

According to the story told the police, Anthony and three other boys—Joseph Sinak and John Bernard of 1321 Eighteenth street and James Emoues of 1325 Eighteenth street—had got off a Western avenue car at Twenty-sixth street on their return from an amusement park. One of them had four transfers for the group.

Three crowded Blue Island cars passed them, and the Rezac boy boarded the fourth one. The boy who had the transfers, however, failed to board that car and young Rezac explained to the conductor, refusing to pay his fare. Then, it is said, the conductor hurled the boy off the car to the pavement.

Think Doctor "White Ghost."

A crowd gathered about the boy in the street, when Dr. E. R. Duff of 3427 South Western avenue drove up in his automobile on his way home.

"I got out," the physician said, "and lifted up the boy. The large crowd seemed to think I was in the employ of the street car company and was trying to kidnap the injured boy.

"The car on which the boy had been riding stopped two blocks away and backed up to the scene. Several other cars had come up. About ten street car employés were present.

"I addressed the crowd, saying I was not in the employ of the car company and the boy would receive fair play. I invited a bystander to come with us in my machine. One man got in, but the crowd still was hostile.

"Finally the chauffeur drove through the crowd. I took the injured boy home and obtained his parents' permission to take him to St. Anthony's hospital, where it was said he was suffering from a basal skull fracture."

Here Is Conductor's Story.

Conductor James Phelan, whose home is at 1641 South Crawford avenue, told the Chicago Railways claim agent three of the boys boarded his car and rode a block. He said he was inside the car getting a pack of transfers from a sand box when the boys jumped off. He denied having ordered the boys to get off the car.

INDIAN RULER DIES IN ENGLAND.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Aug. 31.—The Maharajah of Kuch-Behar is dead at Cromer on the Norfolk coast. He succeeded his father in 1911.

The maharajah ruled over a territory of about 1,307 miles, with a population of 600,000.

ENGLEWOOD LEAGUE PLANS TEST CASES AGAINST DICE EVIL

Warrants Will Be Asked Tomorrow for Six Saloon and Cigar Gamblers.

CRUSADE WIDELY SUPPORTED

Citizens' Association Called to Act in Prosecuting Vice Exposed by "The Tribune."

RESPONSIBILITY PUT UPON MAYOR

Officials of the Englewood Law and Order league yesterday took the lead in an effort to stamp out the widespread and unrestricted growth of gambling with dice in saloons and cigar stores.

As a result of an evidence gathering excursion it is announced test cases will be filed against three saloons and three poolrooms in West Sixty-third and South Halsted streets. In each it is alleged the "twenty-six" game is played.

The evidence in these six cases is regarded as sufficient on which to press the initial suits, and the Englewood leaguers expect similar organizations in other sections of Chicago to take similar action.

Seek Warrants Against Six.

It was announced that warrants against the proprietors of each of these places will be sworn out under the state statutes tomorrow morning in the Englewood branch of the Municipal court, and officers of the league will insist that the state's attorney conduct the prosecutions.

The places against which evidence was collected are:

Lewis Lehnhard, 265 West Sixty-third street, poolroom.

George Fagia, 240 West Sixty-third street, poolroom.

Marlowe poolroom, 518 West Sixty-third street.

Joseph Martin, 813 West Sixty-third street, saloon.

M. J. Carberry, 6301 South Halsted street, saloon.

Citizens' Association to Act.

George E. Cole, president of the Citizens' association, stated he would call a meeting of the directors to consider prosecuting the evil which THE TRIBUNE exposed yesterday.

"THE TRIBUNE'S story set me thinking," Mr. Cole said, "and I trust it had the same effect on several hundred thousand others. The growth of the dice game is an evil that should be bottled up thoroughly at once."

Numerous members of the clergy, bar, and other callings took a similar view in unstinted language. Mayor Harrison could not be reached.

The statutes of Illinois and the ordinances of Chicago are specific in the matter and expressly prohibit gambling with any sort of device for money or "any valuable thing," which is held to effectually cover merchandise, such as drinks, cigars, and candy, through the medium of checks, counters, or coupons. The "26" and other dice shaking games for "merchandise" were once stopped in Chicago, but permitted to reopen since Harrison regained the mayoralty office.

Mothers Make Complaints.

"THE TRIBUNE is always starting something good," John H. Lyle, attorney of the Englewood Law and Order league, said, "and this is one of the best things it ever did. Many mothers have telephoned me in the last few months that their sons were shooting dice at cigar stores and poolrooms and bringing home checks or else cigars and candy. Many of these mothers assert the boys are able to get cash for their checks and have appealed to the Englewood Law and Order league to put these places out of business.

"These dice games constitute one of the greatest evils in Englewood today. There are sixty-three poolrooms alone where card and dice games are played. 'Sixty-six' is the favorite method of card gambling for alleged merchandise, and 'twenty-six,' as THE TRIBUNE stated, is the popular dice gamble. This total does not include the many cigar stores where the same sort of gambling is practiced. One of the worst places in this section is at Sixty-second and Halsted streets, which is crowded with young men at all hours, and particularly on Saturdays and Sundays."

Appeal to Mayor Fails.

Edward Scheidt, Oakwood boulevard and Cottage Grove avenue, president of the Retail Confectioners' association, telephoned THE TRIBUNE that the officers of that organization had been given shabby treatment by Mayor Harrison when they tried to oust the dice games. He also accused the mayor of breaking faith with the confectioners.

"The Retail Confectioners' association has been fighting for two years to down the dice games," Mr. Scheidt said. "Our officials have seen Mayor Harrison probably fifteen or twenty times since his election. We fought first the raffling of candy, and the mayor finally abolished that, as we forced his hand.

"Hinky Dink" and "Bathhouse" Win.

"He had practically promised us to abolish the dice games for merchandise one day. As our delegation walked out we met a number of men from the First ward going in. Among them were the two aldermen, 'Hinky Dink' Kenna and 'Bathhouse' John Coughlin. They told the mayor abolishing the dice games would put the saloons in that ward out of business. They made their complaint so strong that when we went back to the city hall the mayor said he would not stop dice shaking for merchandise.

"We started an advertising campaign against the dice games four months ago, and will certainly do anything we can to stop the evil, which, among other things, materially affects the retail confectionary business."

Kavanagh Calls Evil Insidious.

Judge Marcus Kavanagh of the Superior court called the growth of unmolested dice gambling "more insidious and subtle than the old racetrack evil.

"I had no idea of the extent of the practice," the judge said. "It has produced a demoralizing condition. From THE TRIBUNE narrative and estimates I should judge the average player would risk about 50 cents. If $80,000 is placed in the game each day, then there would be 160,000 Chicagoans gambling. It simply shows the human's innate hunger for taking a chance, often breaking out where least expected. The principal harm done is the habit that is formed, which easily becomes a passion.

"It gets the victim into the habit of trusting to luck and disregarding the [illegible] and work necessary to carry on any business. While the daily dice shaking may only take fifteen or twenty minutes of his time, it works into a habit of mind. This means a disregard of consequences, and, in the end, a serious injury."

"The law should be carried out," Rabbi Tobias Schanfarber said at the K. A. M. temple, Thirty-third street and Indiana avenue, "and it is evident the city authorities are not doing it. The wholesale dice playing exposed by THE TRIBUNE simply panders to the taste of man in gambling."

Statute Provisions Quoted.

That dice gambling is a violation of the Illinois statutes is made plain by these provisions:

Section 126—Gambling—Whoever shall play for money or other valuable thing at any game with cards, dice, checks, or at billiards, or with any other article, instrument, or thing whatsoever, which may be used for the purpose of playing or betting upon, or winning or losing money, or any other thing or article of value, or shall bet on any game others may be playing, shall be fined not exceeding $100 and not less than $10.

Section 127—Gaming House—Whoever keeps a common gaming house, or in any building, booth, yard, garden, boat, or float, by him or his agent used and occupied, procures or permits any persons to frequent, or to come together to play for money or other valuable thing, or knowingly rents any such place for such purposes, shall, upon conviction, for the first offense be fined not less than $100, and for the second offense be fined not less than $500, and be confined in the county jail not less than six months, and for the third offense shall be fined not less than $500 and be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than two years nor more than five years.

Prohibited by Municipal Code.

The revised municipal code of Chicago provides:

Section 977 (2d paragraph)—Every person who owns, keeps, maintains, manages, or conducts, or who is interested in owning, keeping, maintaining, managing, or conducting, any such (gambling) place, shall be fined not less than $25 nor more than $200 for each offense.

Section 978—No person shall deal, play, or engage in faro, roulette, or gamble for money or other valuable thing, or in any device or game of chance, hazard or skill, either as bookmaker, dealer, keeper, player, or otherwise for the purpose of gaming or gambling for money or other valuable thing, under penalty not to exceed $200 for each offense.

Responsibility Up to Police.

Other sections impose penalties of from $25 to $200 for posessing any gambling device, the same amounts for "visitors, keepers, and runners," and specify it is the duty of the police to notify their superior officers of the existence of gambling places and to seize and destroy all gambling devices.

Maj. M. L. C. Funkhouser, second deputy superintendent of police, said the dice gambling did not come within his province, and that consequently no reports of the growth of the evil had come to him.

DEATH TAKES FRED H. DANIELS.

Chairman of Board of Engineers of United States Steel Corporation Dies at Summer Home.

Worcester, Mass., Aug. 31.—Fred H. Daniels, chairman of the board of engineers of the United States Steel corporation, chief engineer of the American Steel and Wire company, and president of the Washburn & Moen company, died at his home here tonight after an illness of about a year.

He was 60 years old. He had been prominently identified with the development of the steel industry for forty years, and 151 patents, many of them revolutionizing processes of manufacture, mark his influence on the industry.

He was one of the consulting engineers who designed the United States Steel corporation's plant at Gary, Ind., costing between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000, and served in a similar capacity at the erection of the Minnesota Steel company's mills at Duluth.

The Paris exposition of 1900 bestowed a gold medal on him as "celebrateur," and in 1909 he was decorated by King Oscar of Sweden.

GLASGOW EXPERT FOR 2-DECK CARS

ADVISES GRADED FARES.

James Dalrymple, superintendent of the municipal tramways of Glasgow, Scotland, who is visiting Chicago, sees better transportation service for Chicago in double deck cars. Mr. Dalrymple quotes increased seating capacity and less traffic space as his reason for urging the London and Glasgow style of car for Chicago.

Mr. Dalrymple, however, said the use of the double-decker in Chicago might be handicapped by the elevated structures.

Imported as Expert by Dunne.

Mr. Dalrymple, a recognized authority on city traction problems, was imported from Glasgow by Gov. Dunne, when the state executive was mayor, to advise him on the problems of the city at that time and particularly on municipal ownership.

Mr. Dalrymple's purpose in visiting America at this time is to inspect street car bridges for use over the Clyde river. A system of ferries has been planned for the Clyde, but bridges that will open for the boats are also necessary.

The bascule type used in Chicago has impressed Mr. Dalrymple most favorably. He is accompanied by Thomas Nisbet, master of public works of Glasgow.

Mr. Dalrymple has been in Chicago since Friday and has made inspection trips on most of the street car lines.

One Management for "L's."

"The elevated lines," he said, "should be under one management. One fare should be enough for a ride over the entire system. The transfer system of the elevated is bad."

The Scottish traction expert believes a graded system of fares would prove popular here.

"A charge of a cent for a mile and a half, 2 cents for three miles, and so on," he said, "would mean a great saving for the working people and would pay the traction companies sufficient return on their investment."

Mr. Dalrymple and Mr. Nisbet will leave tomorrow for Minneapolis and after a day there will go to the Pacific coast.

LINER WITH 663 ON BOARD FOUND TO BE AFIRE AT SEA.

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 31.—The steamer Uranium, from New York for Rotterdam, has arrived here with its cargo on fire. The steamer left New York on Thursday, and on Friday night, when 360 miles from New York, the fire was discovered. The cargo consists of cotton and flour.

Efforts to extinguish the fire failed. The crew battened down the hatches and the Uranium came at full speed for this port.

It has twelve first class and 651 steerage passengers, all of whom are still on board. Steam and water are being pumped into the hold.

POLICE RAID GAMBLING GAMES.

Several West Side Saloons and Cigar Stores Cleared by Detectives from Schuettler's Office.

Several west side saloons and cigar stores were raided Saturday night by detectives from Assistant Chief Schuettler's gambling squad. Ten men were arrested in George Kelly's cigar store at 4852 West Lake street. Kelly was booked as the keeper. The men were charged with playing poker.

Eight men were taken at John Duris' saloon at 1959 Fulton street. The men were charged with throwing dice and playing poker.

Seven were arrested at Michael Dooley's saloon at 1448 South Kedzie. Twenty-three were takep at Harry Gardner's pool room at 2820 West Twelfth street.

FIFTEEN FIGHT; TWO INJURED.

Both Victims Incur Broken Jaws When Bricks Are Hurled During Brawl in a Saloon.

Two men were injured in a fight in which fifteen men took part last night in the saloon of W. Nykasa, 604 Fay street. They became engaged in an argument in the saloon and seven left and returned in a short time armed with bricks. These were thrown through the saloon windows and two of the men were knocked unconscious. Nykasa called the police. The injured men gave their names as Joseph Madza, 613 North Morgan street, and Peter Miller, 674 Fay street. Both sustained broken jaws. Stephen Vawack of 668 North Sangamon street was arrested.

OBITUARY.

DANIEL DORE, a contractor on the west side, died yesterday of pneumonia at his residence, 2837 West Taylor street, where he lived for thirty-three years. He was 78 years old. Five children survive him. Funeral services will be held from the residence today at 9:30 o'clock. Burial at Mount Carmel.

SPECIAL STATE'S ATTORNEY NORTHUP

NORTHUP REVEALS WIDE FRAUD PLOT

behind that threat. There must have been a stronger motive to have made those parties submit to that threat. It is probable that we will know more about that in several weeks. How any officers of the county of Cook could publicly try to prevent the prosecution of crimes such as we have bared in our investigation is hard to see. I don't believe that in all the history of election crimes anything so flagrant ever has been perpetrated.

How Anarchists Are Made.

"It is true, as one of you Socialists has said, that the men who are making anarchists today are the men who will openly taunt a voter by telling him even before he votes that his vote is to be counted for one certain candidate only. That voter learns that his vote will not be counted for the man for whom he voted, but will be counted for the man against whom he voted. He learns to know that after the closing of the polls on election night that small gang of underlings will gather in the polling places and divert his vote in the direction they desire.

"We found in our investigation so far that in some precincts more than 150 votes were voted over again on election day. Hundreds and thousands of men who voted to put William A. Cunnea in the office of state's attorney of Cook county can now know that after they left the polls their votes were not counted for Cunnea, but were counted for his leading opponent.

Coterie Benefits by Frauds.

"Not only one candidate benefited by the frauds, but a coterie shared. They all reaped the advantages of the remarked ballots, the forged and repeated votes, and the falsified return sheets. Men, as a result of that widespread carnival of crime and fraud, 30,000 votes in Cook county were changed after they had been cast on last election day. Are we going to treat this as a joke or are we going to crush out such crimes?

"Are we going to expose and prosecute these crimes?

"Are we going to make an example of the men who have trodden on our birthright?

"Are we going to set up an example so that ten or fifteen or twenty-five years from now, when some of these underlings are ordered by their master politicians to divert the votes of our sons and daughters, they will be deterred by the specters that peer through bars at them as a result of this investigation?

"When this investigation was started fear struck broadcast in the puny minds of the underlings who had done the bidding of their masters. To soothe this fear, which was expected to result in a widespread loosening of tongues, word was sent out from the fraud directors that the underlings would be protected all the way down the line, that the investigation would never go through, that it would die before anybody could be put to trial. That was the reassurance that was sent out by the beneficiaries of those forgeries. Before this investigation is over the very men who promised protection will be among those called upon to answer by this special grand jury.

Voters' Birthright Involved.

"If those thousands of forged votes had been forged checks of $10 or $100 each how widespread do you think would have been your cry for the prosecution of those responsible. Men, these forgeries do not involve your dollars—they involve your birthright.

"'As long as I count the votes what are you going to do about it?' was the attitude that brought down Tweed in New York. Here in Chicago we have it revised and strengthened. It is, 'As long as we count the votes and hold the purse strings on the prosecution of vote frauds what are you going to do about it?' Citizens, that is the question today: What are you going to do about it?

Wants People's Honor Upheld.

"Shame on the honor of Cook county if the people of Cook county let this investigation die.

"But it is not dying. The good and right-minded citizens—the men who value their birthright above their dollars—are coming to the front and demanding that the investigation go through, and it will.

"In my heart, I hold the deepest pity for the weak underlings who did the active work in these frauds; those misguided men who did as they were ordered. But it is not too late for them to in part make reparation for their crime to the community. It will be for them to disclose the names of the criminals above them, who ordered them to commit the frauds, the men in whose hire they worked."

George Haight, representative of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' union, spoke after Mr. Northup, and was followed in turn by Miss "Burke" McCarthy and Seymour Stedman.

THIRTEENTH BALLOT DUE.

The thirteenth ballot on the proposed appropriation of $15,000 for special grand jury called by Judge Cooper to investigate election frauds will be taken at the next meeting of the county board.

On this "unlucky" ballot President McCormick said yesterday that he has "a feeling in his bones" that the money will be set aside for the prosecutor.

In several interviews sent out from New York Roger Sullivan is quoted as saying he believes the appropriation should be made. Some of the Democrats on the county board who have been classed as Sullivan men have been aiding Peter Bartzen in blocking the allotment of funds.

The law requires that a quarterly meeting of the board shall be held today, but the statute was passed before Labor day was born and it is improbable the necessary ten commissioners will be present to make appropriations. The meeting, if a quorum—eight—is present, probably will adjourn until later in the week. If no quorum is present the meeting will adjourn from day to day until a majority of the commissioners do put in an appearance.

Tailor in Hospital with Bullet in Lung Tells Police It's None of Their Business.

Leo Buranta, a tailor, was probably fatally wounded by a bullet last night. The shooting took place in an alley near Wentworth avenue and Twenty-fourth street. He refused to give the police his address or to discuss the shooting. He is at the People's hospital with a bullet in his lung. Buranta informed the police the affair was "none of their business."

PACIFIC WATERS LET INTO CANAL

Blast Permits Flooding as Far Back in Channel as Miraflores Locks.

MANY WATCH CEREMONY.

Dynamite Which Is Used to Make Breach in Dike Weighs 44,800 Pounds.

Panama, C. Z., Aug. 31.—The last barrier at the Pacific end of the Panama canal was blown up by dynamite this morning.

At exactly 9:30 o'clock an electric switch was turned on and the 1,500 spectators, including the Secretaries visiting here from the United States and officers of the British cruiser New Zealand, were rewarded by a wonderful sight.

About [illegible] tons, equivalent to 44,800 pounds, of 40 per cent dynamite constituted the blast, which was one of the largest ever set off in the canal.

The charge, which was planted in 542 holes at an average depth of thirty feet, tore a big gap in the barrier, but not to a sufficient depth to permit water to flow through, as the sea level channel was at low tide.

Equally interesting as the explosion was the actual breaking of the barrier this afternoon, the tide creeping steadily up until at 1:35 o'clock it was level with the top of the gap. A workman seized a shovel and made a small trench, through which a rill of water trickled. Gradually it widened, until an hour later a raging torrent with a thirty-five foot fall poured through an opening 400 feet wide into that part of the canal between Gamboa dike and the Miraflores locks which had previously been excavated by steam shovels.

This cut, which is 5,000 feet long, 500 feet wide, and 41 feet deep below [illegible], was entirely filled by 3 o'clock, when the waters of the Pacific laved for the first time the solid masonry of the Miraflores locks.

MEXICAN STATE MAY SEIZE LAND

Intervention Possible by Sonora Order to Confiscate Alien Property.

HUERTA A STRATEGIST.

Plays Upon People's Fear That United States Seeks Control of Country.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 31.—[Special.]—President Wilson has been brought face to face with the necessity of taking action for the protection of Americans and their interests in Mexico.

From the state of Sonora, which has declared its independence of the Huerta government and which is absolutely controlled by the forces of Gen. Pasquiera, have been received copies of laws for the confiscation of lands owned by aliens.

This means that large holdings of American citizens will be seized and probably sold by the government of the state and that similar action will be taken with respect to the properties of other aliens.

The situation contains elements of danger, as some of the Americans are unlikely to submit to dispossession except by force. In this event it is regarded as altogether probable that a number will be killed and injured.

Nothing Done to Aid Americans.

In his Mexican message President Wilson used this significant language:

"We should let every one who assumes to exercise authority in any part of Mexico know in the most unequivocal way that we shall vigilantly watch the fortunes of those Americans who cannot get away, and shall hold those responsible for their sufferings and losses to a definite reckoning."

Beyond communicating this purport to the self-constituted authorities in Sonora, a big state bordering on Arizona and California, and intimating that failure to respect American citizens and their properties would lead to military intervention, the administration has done nothing.

It has been devoting itself to seeking to reach an agreement with Gen. Huerta, believing that when that is accomplished it will be a comparatively easy matter to induce Gen. Carranza, the leader in Chihuahua and northeastern Mexico, and Gen. Pasquiera to accept the terms made with the de facto government in Mexico City.

But with the negotiations halting in Mexico City, and the leaders in Sonora acting in the high-handed fashion they are doing, the administration is being forced to consider the conditions in the Mexican state and to determine what steps, if any, it ought to take.

It is likely that urgent representations will be made through the American consuls, and these representations will be backed up by those of foreign powers. The latter will not want to embarrass the president of the United States.

Huerta an Able Strategist.

Huerta has played a game in his negotiations with the United States which show him to be an able strategist. He has made it clear to his countrymen that the United States is seeking to control the destinies of their nation by dictating who shall and who shall not be president. As an indication of what he ostensibly fears, he is distributing his troops around various seaports as if to repel American assault.

To the Mexicans, army officers here say that Huerta's preparations for the defense of various ports will make for his popularity. It will create the impression that he is busily engaged in seeking to defend his country against the greedy Yankee of the north.

That there is danger of such invasion is being impressed upon the people, not only by the notes of Minister Gamboa in reply to those of Special Commissioner Lind, but by the suggestion to Americans to leave Mexico.

CHALGE AMERICAN PLOT.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

Mexico City, Aug. 31.—Accusations involving charges of plotting against the Huerta government and endeavoring to set influences at work in Washington to cause the United States to intervene in Mexico have been made against several prominent members of the American colony.

The affair has created much comment among foreigners and Mexicans on account of the seriousness of the charges as well as the persons involved.

The charges were contained in an unsigned communication which reached Huerta, it is said, through the medium of a Mexican lawyer who is one of the secretaries of Minister of War Blanquet.

Among those named in the denunciation were J. N. Galbraith, head of the Waters-Pierce Oil interests in Mexico; Gen. C. H. M. Small, J. Agramonte, president of the American colony; H. M. Dieffenbach, a capitalist and a director of the Bank of Commerce and Industry; Robert H. Murray, Burton W. Wilson, attorney for Hamilton in the Willfy litigation; Hamilton, and several others.

Flock to Huerta Standard.

A wave of patriotism appears to be sweeping over Mexico, and from many states and from all classes, it is announced, assurances of allegiance and offers of service are being received daily by President Huerta and his minister of war.

Plans are being made for as large a display as possible of military strength on Sept. 16, Independence day, when it is proposed to hold a big parade, in which 20,000 men are expected to march.

The war department has been called upon to furnish military instructors to a dozen cities, where the fear of being impressed for service against the revolutionists has given way before a later patriotic ardor. Thousands of all ages are asking to be drilled in the use of arms.

Hale Has Important News.

Vera Cruz, Aug. 31.—Dr. William Bayard Hale, who is now on his way to Washington and should arrive there Tuesday or Wednesday, is expected to place before President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan important facts in the Mexican situation which have had a bearing on the negotiations between the two countries.

The president's personal representative, John Lind, is still here awaiting instructions from Washington, but so far has not received any indication from the Mexican government that it would be willing to make more concessions to the American demands.

The authorities at Vera Cruz, to whom has been shown the state department's injunction that they would be held personally responsible for any maltreatment of Americans, appear to have taken the matter philosophically.

Considerable confusion has resulted here through a misunderstanding on the part of the American refugees and American residents attempting to comply with Washington's warning to leave Mexico.

Consul Canada is lodging in hotels those Americans who represent that they need assistance, because there is no American transport here and no boat is sailing for some days.

Refuses to Recognize U. S.

Eagle Pass, Tex., Aug. 31.—Gen. Bravo, federal commander at Torreon, Mexico, refused to recognize the United States consular agent, George G. Carothers, when the latter protested against the recent execution of six Americans in that city, according to declaration of Frank and Milton Chissum and Andrew Odel, Americans, who arrived at Piedras Negras, "constitutionists' " headquarters, from Torreon yesterday.

"Your government does not recognize the government of Mexico," Bravo is reported to have declared, "and I shall not recognize you. The affair is none of your concern and you have no right to interfere."

According to the refugees, who say they escaped from the besieged city and made the trip to Piedras Negras overland, the six Americans reported executed were charged with having been "with" the constitutionalist troops.

Mexico Bars American Music.

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 31.—[Special.]—American music is no longer permitted to be played by the Mexican military bands, Americans are being crowded off the sidewalks in Chihuahua City, and insulted in hotels and public places by Mexicans, and Sept. 16, Mexican Independence day, is now set as the time for a national wide anti-American demonstration combining with it an indorsement of Huerta's defiance. This is the information of American refugees arriving daily from the interior.

They assert there is but one reason in the minds of the Mexican people for the recall of American citizens, and that is intervention, which is predicted within the next thirty days.

The story which the refugees brought is a sorry one for American prestige. One American mill man from Madera told of being struck in the face by a Mexican cab driver in the saloon of the Palace hotel in Chihuahua City. As the bar was filled with Mexican federal officers, he declined to resent the insult. The cabman's act was applauded by the army officers. Americans are pushed into the combination street drain and sewer which serves as a coping for all sidewalks in Chihuahua. This is not being done by the rabble but by the higher class Mexicans, including prominent army officers.

DIAZ ANXIOUSLY AWAITS CABLE.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Aug. 31.—Gen. Felix Diaz and the other members of the Mexican special mission to Japan, who are now here, say that tomorrow will be a critical day for them.

Gen. Diaz, in addition to announcing his candidacy for the presidency of Mexico, says the cables from that country tomorrow will determine whether or not he will go to Japan to perform his mission or return to Mexico.

Memorial Fountain Ready for Dedication.

The Ferguson memorial fountain, designed by Lorado Taft, a Chicago sculptor, representing by five figures the five great lakes, has been set up in Grant park and its pipes have been tested preparatory to its dedication on Sept. 9. On that date the fountain will be turned over by the officials of the Art institute to the south park commissioners. Charles L. Hutchinson, president of the board of trustees of the institute, will make the presentation address. The program also includes a speech of acceptance by John Barton Payne, president of the south park commissioners, and an address by Mr. Taft.

DROPS LABOR DAY PARADES FOR PICNICS AND RURAL TRIPS.

Federation Decides Not to Tire Men by Long Marches and Long Winded Speeches in Parks.

Today, Labor day, will be a day of rest to Chicago labor organizations. Semi-official picnics have been planned by many organizations, but the old idea of long marches behind brass bands to the various parks, and of listening to long winded speeches has been abandoned.

Trips to the parks and excursions on the lake and to the country have been planned by thousands. Many will celebrate Labor day at home. Special train, car, and boat trips have been organized and the various parks and amusement places are preparing for a banner day.

At the last meeting of the Chicago Federation of Labor resolutions were adopted against the old method of celebrating the day with parades. It was said Labor day should be celebrated as a holiday. Meetings will be held in the morning by many union locals and they then will go to the parks in a body with their families.

According to several labor leaders Labor day this year will be the only real celebration enjoyed by the workingmen of Chicago in years. In the past it has been the custom to have parades, and every union man was pledged to march.

Labor day always was regarded as the hardest working day of the year, and according to one of the leaders who has had much experience, "it required all the rest of the year to recover from the effects of Labor day."

Every industry of Chicago will shut down, and all retail and wholesale stores of the city will be closed.

TWO MEN DEAD BY OWN HAND.

Louis Baldauf, Despondent Over Lack of Job, Shoots Himself—Other Asphyxiated.

Louis Baldauf ended his life by shooting himself yesterday in his home at 1902 Tripp avenue. He is believed to have been despondent over lack of employment. William McGregory was found asphyxiated in bed in his room at 504 West Thirty-third street. The police think it a case of suicide.

CHILDREN WATCH BUTCHER CONTEST

Two Thousand of Them Among Spectators at Slaughtering Competition.

BRUTAL, KRAUSE SAYS.

Anti-Cruelty Man Asserts Law Will Prevent Repetition of Scene.

Little Dorothy's mother took her to Forest Park last night to see the alligators and ride on the merry-go-round. What little Dorothy saw was this:

Six steers were roped in the park and dragged upon a platform. The animals were tied up in a row and a big man walked along with a sledge hammer striking them in the head. They fell to the floor and another man followed the man with the sledge hammer. He carried a knife and cut the throats of the animals.

And the Butcher Race Begins.

The blood gushed from the veins and ran over the platform. Still another man followed and cut the heads and feet from the bulls. Then the six huge men with sharp knives entered a race. The bulls were skinned and cut half in two.

But little Dorothy was only one of 2,000 children who waited until 11 o'clock last night to see the beef killing contest, staged by the park management. There were 7,000 or 8,000 grownups who stayed, too.

Degrading, Krause Asserts.

"Such an exhibition is degrading," said Hugo Krause, superintendent of the Anti-Cruelty society, who was there. "There'll be a law next year to stop such exhibitions. It's a disgrace for children to watch such a performance in a public park."

No arrests were made, however.

Phillip Murphy of the stockyards won the prize of $500 for skinning and halving his beef first. His time was four minutes flat. George F. Schick was two seconds slower, and Fred Kantendick was four seconds slower than the winner. Second prize was $250, and $100 was given to the third man.

There were six entries. The prizes were paid by the management of the park.

CAPT. COLLINS STARTS WAR ON INTOXICATED AUTOISTS.

South Chicago Police Officer Orders His Men to Bring Them All in "Dead or Alive."

A campaign against intoxicated automobile drivers was started last night by Capt. Morgan J. Collins of the South Chicago station. At roll call orders were issued to all policemen to bring in every intoxicated chauffeur "dead or alive."

The first arrest was made on information by a woman, who told the police she had seen McCutcheon's cartoon and that four men were running wild in an auto.

Four policemen promptly left the station and gathered in the quartet. One of the men said his name was Raymond Engeltaller and that he was a city employé. He told the policemen, Herbert Moss, John Dohney, Pete Zeigler, and George Williams, that he would have them all "fired" when he got to city hall tomorrow.

August Schraeder, 414 East Thirtieth street, was the driver of the car. The other two men in the machine were M. H. Miller, captain of the ship Uncle Sam, and Charles Bertrich, 1713 Spring street.

William Newenfield of 3340 North Seeley avenue, was severely injured when his motorcycle dashed against an Irving Park boulevard car. His machine was wrecked.

A motorcycle ridden by H. L. Laperruque, 218 North Humphrey avenue, Oak Park, struck William Lennan of 483 Homer street. He was taken to St. Anne's hospital.

Young Robbers Get $45.

George Staff of 946 North Lincoln street early yesterday was robbed of $45 by three men with revolvers at West Chicago avenue and North Lincoln street. The robbers were between 18 and 20 years old.

Arrested in Denver with Broker Friend.

MRS. THOMAS RUSSUM

Mrs. Jacquanna Russum, reported to be under arrest with Broker Francis W. Keeler at Denver, at one time was prominent in Evanston society. The couple were taken into custody after a 4,000 mile chase on charges made by Mr. Russum. The woman left Evanston a month ago, according to friends. Keeler is said to have been a frequent visitor at her home there. It was announced in Denver that Russum contemplated seeking damages from the broker.

ROBBER SHOT IN STREET DEAD; SURPRISED IN POOLROOM.

Detectives, Attracted by Cries of Boys, Battle and Pursue Armed Negro Holdup Man on South Side.

A Bloomington (Ill.) negro highwayman tried to whip two Chicago detectives early yesterday in a revolver battle. The battle started in a poolroom at Dearborn and Eighteenth streets when the negro, who later gave his name as David Lucas, tried to hold up the proprietor.

After the firing stopped Lucas was loaded into an ambulance and taken to the bridewell hospital, where he is thought likely to die.

The negro entered the pool hall just before closing time. He ordered the proprietor, Frank Day, to hand over the cash in the register. Day dropped behind the counter and several young men ran from the pool hall, shouting "police."

Their cries were heard by Detectives Creed and Thieme. When they entered the pool hall the negro shot at them. The detectives returned the fire. The negro ran. After a chase of a few blocks, in which many shots were exchanged by the negro and the detectives, Lucas dropped to the sidewalk.

LINDSEY FLAILS HIS CRITICS

SPEAKS TO SUFFRAGISTS.

Says Bosses Inspire Campaign of "Woman's Protective League."

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 31.—[Special.]—Judge Ben B. Lindsey of Denver today replied to a series of charges being circulated against his juvenile court work. His address was delivered before a massmeeting held under the auspices of the congressional committee of the National Woman Suffrage association at which the Rev. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National association, presided. Other speakers were Representative Kent of California and Representative Kindel of Colorado.

Judge Lindsey declared that the charges against him, contained in a circular bearing the signature of the "Woman's Protective league of Denver," are absolutely without foundation in fact and contrasted the statements made with facts taken from the court records.

"The league," he alleged, "comprises but two people, and is the tool used by the same political influence which I have been fighting for years. No pretense is made that the officers, court records, or the witnesses were consulted.

Corrupt Bosses Behind Attacks.

"Nowhere does it appear that any child or parent or person ever made the slightest complaint against the disposition of these cases.

"The most virulent attacks against the work of the Juvenile court are instigated by political bosses, who are trying to protect divekeepers. The politicians responsible for such conditions have admitted that they could not make their deals with vice and get their privileges unless they could spike the guns of the Juvenile court which claimed jurisdiction under this law."

Representatives Kent and Kindel took up in detail the effects of woman suffrage in their states, the child labor laws of Colorado having been declared by an international commission to be the best in the world, while the mother's pension law of California was a direct and immediate result of the enfranchisement of the women of that state.

Dr. Shaw's address was a reply to the recent speech of Senator Tillman, in which she quoted from the laws of South Carolina affecting women and children.

Anti-Suffragists Issue Statement.

The national association opposed to woman suffrage issued a statement tonight through its Washington headquarters containing a denunciation of woman suffrage by Miss Annie Bock, a California woman, once an ardent suffragist. Miss Bock declares the results of woman suffrage in her state are not only unsatisfactory and disappointing but disastrous.

"The majority of women," says Miss Bock, "not only do not care to vote but have no interest whatever in suffrage. Woman suffrage in California brought woman into too familiar contact with man. She has her rights now; she is equal to him—on his level. Where previously men were generally courteous, now they are rude."

A dog believed mad scattered pedestrians yesterday in Madison near Halsted street. Policeman George Castleberry killed the animal at Center avenue.

WOMEN VOTERS INVADE PULPIT

Suffragists Conduct Morning Services at Abraham Lincoln Center.

PARTY LEADER PRESIDES

Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout "Preaches" Most Important "Sermon" of Session.

Women voters yesterday invaded the pulpit. They took charge of the entire morning services at Abraham Lincoln center, Oakwood boulevard and Langley avenue. The sermon was a suffrage address. The prayers were led by a suffragist. The informal talks from the pulpit were all designed to win women to the cause of suffrage.

Mrs. Harriette Taylor Treadwell of the Illinois Equal Suffrage association and the Political Equality league opened the services with a prayer and presided during the entire session. Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout was the first speaker and delivered the most important "sermon." Her topic was "The Woman Voter, Her Responsibility."

Outlines Suffrage Fight.

Outlining in brief the struggle of the women lobbyists in the recent Illinois general assembly to get the suffrage measure passed, Mrs. Trout showed the necessity of the women granted the franchise voting as often as they had an opportunity, in order that the world might become convinced that women "really do want the ballot."

She said many people are crying for a change in the double standard of morality, but that few realize that the double standard of morality always will be maintained so long as the double political standard exists.

Wipe Out Double Standard.

"The double standard which says that men can vote and women cannot, is the standard primarily responsible for the double standard in morals. Let women become politically independent of men, let women take a hand in the government and in the election of public officials, and then we shall see the double moral standard wiped out of existence."

Mrs. Sherman Booth told how in Glencoe a church already has been thrown open for use as a voting place in its precinct during elections. She said the women leaders in church activities should be among the first to enlist themselves in the army of women voters.

SEES HER CHILD HIT BY CAR.

Mrs. Amanda Petritsch, the mother, had gone to one of the front windows of her home to see them away. A few moments later she saw the little girl struck and thrown to the pavement by a car directly in front of the house. She ran into the street and was hysterical when the father rushed towards her with the victim in his arms. Dr. Petritsch carried the child into their home.

It was found she had escaped with severe bruises on the head, face, and body.

You Can Buy at Cost

We will build five new, model, 5 and 6-room brick 2-flat buildings in our great Subdivision, and sell them at actual cost, on terms of $500 down and $25 per month. We will also build 5 and 6-room bungalows, and sell them on the same terms. For particulars write or call at our Main Office.

Notwithstanding the fact that we have sold more than a million and a half dollars' worth of lots, and have expended more than $500,000 in street improvements, and that about $500,000 worth of modern brick buildings have been built in our Subdivision, we are still offering unsold lots in our 59th and Western Avenue and 63rd and Kedzie Avenue Subdivisions at the original listed prices, and on the same easy terms of $10 down and $10 per month.

Every wage earner and salaried employe who can afford to lay by $10 per month should buy one of these residence lots. The average wage earner should not be carried away by the requirements of present day society and spend too much of his hard earned salary for rent. He should practice sufficient frugality to enable him to acquire a home. He can make no better provision for his family, nor find any greater comfort or satisfaction in life.

One reason many people keep on paying rent is because they do not set any time to stop it. Here is a ripe opportunity for you to acquire a lot for your home, in a neighborhood that is protected by proper building restrictions, and in an unexcelled location—right in the heart of the future great City of Chicago.

BRAZIL AROUSED AS JAPS RUSH IN

Already 12,000 Have Entered Country; Natives Resent Cheap Labor.

UPPER CLASS CONTROLS.

Nation's Future Lies in More Immigrants Capable of Changing Rule.

marrying the Portuguese, are nevertheless Brazilians and claim that as their nationality.

The Italians, coming first as laborers, have in many cases acquired small holdings of land in the southern provinces and have settled down as Brazilian citizens. As they are industrious and hard working, their influence is relatively good. They still furnish practically all the labor for the coffee estates in the state of Sao Paulo.

While most of this class return periodically to Europe and do not become citizens, others remain permanently in the country. They mix more than the Germans with the Portuguese element, which in southern Brazil has little or no negro blood in it.

Spanish Absorbed by Brazilians.

The immigration from Portugal and Spain is continuous. These people on the whole prefer the cities, so do not tend to solve the important problem of developing the country by settling it. They, however, are quickly absorbed by the Brazilians.

As the northern part of Brazil is approached the negroes become more and more predominant. Probably half of the 23,000,000 people in Brazil are full blooded negroes and half and quarter bloods. Brought in originally as slaves they were not freed until 1888, though in 1871 children of slaves were declared free and in 1885 all slaves over 60 were freed.

Aside from the growth of republicanism in Brazil, one of the causes leading to the abolition of slavery was that the Italian laborer, finding he could not compete with slave labor, caused disturbances in 1887 in the state of Sao Paulo.

As a free man the negro is not feared, because he is an inefficient laborer. There is little or no prejudice against the negro on the part of the Portuguese. There is some, however, on the part of the Italian, while the Germans hate him.

Jap Element Enters Country.

Recently the importation of Japanese labor has introduced a new element in Brazil. Rebuffed by Chile and Argentina, Japan met with the greatest encouragement from the Brazilian government.

So far about 12,000 Japanese have entered They arrive directly from Japan in Japanese ships. Already their entry is producing discontent. They are efficient workers and will work for less than the Italian, so that their competition is felt.

While the majority of the Italians are laborers many of them own coffee plantations and others are prominent in the city of Sao Paulo. The Italian influence cannot, therefore, be ignored.

Foreign Influence for Democracy.

European immigration has benefited the country in another way besides tending to settle it and make it prosperous. This has been in helping it along the road to democracy. Sao Paulo, the center of foreign influence, has always been the leader of this movement.

Prior to the abolition of slavery, it was not strong enough to accomplish much. While the emperor Pedro II. believed in abolishing slavery, he wished to do it gradually, and to compensate the owners. His daughter, Princess Isabel, wished it done immediately. During the absence of the emperor in Europe, while regent, the princess succeeded in bringing about the complete abolition of slavery, but without compensation for the owners.

This turned the powerful element which always had supported the monarchy and had been opposed to democracy into supporters of the republican party. At the same time a number of the higher officers of the army saw in republicanism opportunities which a monarchy did not offer. They also joined the movement. This led to the revolution and the establishment of a republic.

Dictatorship Follows Republic.

As seems inevitable when a republic is formed by people unprepared for self-government, this led virtually to a dictatorship. However, a constitution modeled on that of the United States was promulgated and the church separated from the state.

The first two presidents were generals of the army and considerably abused their power. The first was forced to resign by a revolt in which the navy took the part of the rebels.

The second has to face a revolt in the south, coupled with one of the fleet in Rio de Janeiro. While nominally a revolt against the tyranny of the president, it was in reality a royalist attempt against the government. The government, however, succeeded in suppressing it.

The Germans took no part in either revolt. The people of Sao Paulo took no active part. While preferring a more liberal government than the one in power, they were far from wishing to see the monarchy restored. They took advantage of their being in a position to cast a probably predominating influence one way or the other in the civil war to insure their candidate for president being declared the next official candidate.

Official Candidate Always Wins.

In Brazil as elsewhere in Latin America there is always an official candidate supported by the government. This support means his election, because the government uses its power to insure his obtaining a majority of the votes, regardless of the means necessary.

Dr. Morales, the Sao Paulo candidate, had been a leader in the Republican party since some time prior to the downfall of the empire. He was declared elected. His government on the whole was beneficial to Brazil. He was succeeded by another Sao Paulist Republican. In this way the Sao Paulo Republican element has come to the front and tended to overcome those of the old Brazilian aristocratic element, whose ideas are fully as reactionary as those of the same class in the Spanish American countries.

Federal Rule Is Handicapped.

The chief danger to Brazil as it exists today is that combined with the nonhomogeneity of its population is a government decentralized to an extent which forbids effective federal action to overcome the existing defects.

While the constitution was modeled after that of the United States, the various states were given a freedom never contemplated by that document. The federal government is practically forbidden interference of any kind. Interstate commerce is taxed. The jealousies of the states have reached such a point that in some cases they have been ready to fight each other over boundary questions. The states all have equal rights, and include all of Brazil, there being no territories.

This means that the parts of the country which are being left behind cannot be either helped or forced to reform by the more advanced and populous sections, as they cannot exert their influence through their representatives in congress, the federal government being powerless to act.

As the different elements of the population which have refused so far to amalgamate, such as the Germans, Italians, and negroes, are not distributed throughout the country, but are practically concentrated in different geographical sections, this is another force tending toward disintegration.

The lack of communication between the different parts of the country also acts in the same direction. Some parts, such as much of the Amazon district, are in more intimate connection with other countries than with the remainder of Brazil.

Privileged Class Still Rules.

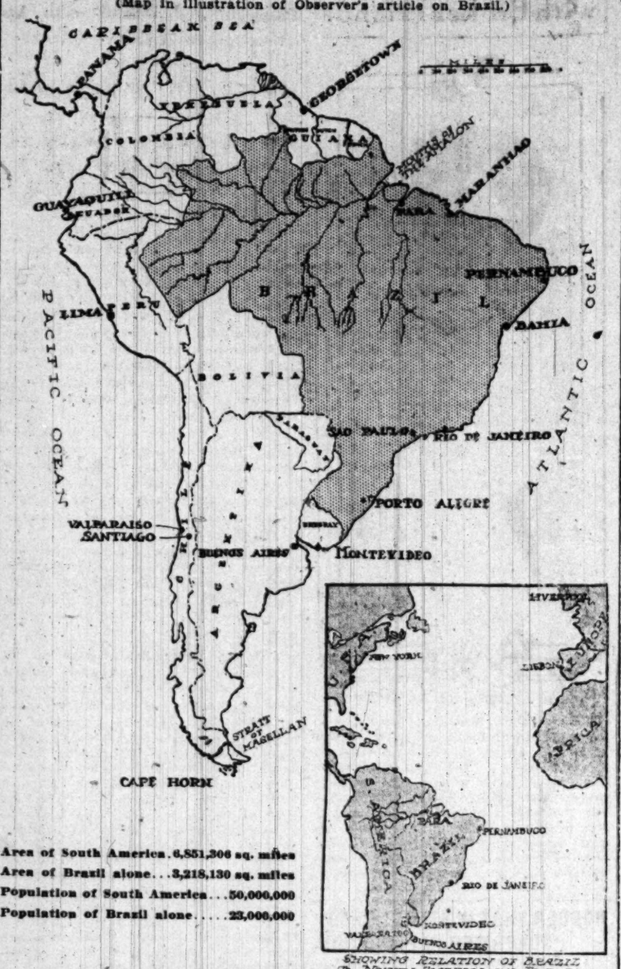

If these problems were realized and were being worked on by the government they could be overcome. Unfortunately the privileged rich class still on the whole controls the government, and runs it not for the benefit of the country, but for its own profit.

The army and navy, instead of being the main supports of the constitution, are bitter enemies engaged in intrigues to gain the dominant influence in the government.

The one hope is increased European immigration, which will settle the land, tend to amalgamate the different white races, and gradually by its very numbers, gain control of the government.

CHICAGO GAINS AS SUMMER RESORT

THOUSANDS OF VISITORS.

Lake Breeze During Last Three Months Makes Mean Figure of 73.1 Degrees.

The close of the three months of summer in Chicago made a record for the city that could be applied on the credit side of its claims as a summer resort. While other parts of the United States broiled under a temperature of more than 100 degrees continuously during daylight for weeks at a time, Chicago, with the assistance of its lake breeze, offered a mean temperature for the three months just passed of 73.1 degrees.

On only twenty days out of the ninety-two did the temperature reach 90 degrees or higher. The hottest day was July 30, when the mercury mounted to 99 degrees. On July 1 that record was approached, when the official thermometer in the federal building reached a maximum of 98.6 degrees.

The coolest day during the three summer months in the city was June 8, when the temperature registered the low mark of 44 degrees.

Vacations Spent in Chicago.

The prevailing cool weather in the city made Chicago popular with residents of the middle western states seeking resort climates. Thousands of persons came to Chicago for their vacation from the south and west, and central Illinois.

In rainfall during the summer, Chicago led St. Louis, Kansas City, San Francisco, and New York. In August four inches of rain fell in this city, while the farmers in states farther west hauled water miles to keep their stock alive.

In general, the hottest period in Chicago during the summer was the latter part of June and early July. The temperature stayed well around the 90 degree mark for about two weeks, when it fell suddenly with a rain and a shift in the wind. Since then there have been one or two hot days at a time.

KILLARNEY HOUSE BURNS; MANY ART WORKS DESTROYED.

Seat of Earl of Kenmare, Built 32 Years Ago at Cost of $1,000,000 Razed by Blaze.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

DUBLIN, Aug. 31.—Killarney house, at Killarney, County Kerry, the seat of the Earl of Kenmare, was almost completely destroyed by fire today. Most of the contents, among which were many works of art, were also burned.

The fire could not be handled with any success because of the lack of water. The house, which was in the Elizabethan style, was built thirty-two years ago at a cost of $1,000,000.

Killarney house is situated on the Kenmare demesne, which lies on the lower lake (Lough Leane), and is near the village of Killarney.

THAW LAWYERS PLAN APPEAL IF HABEAS CORPUS PREVAILS.

Canadian Attorneys for Fugitive Doubt Whether Writ Will Be Sustained—Rely on King's Bench.

Sherbrooke, Que., Aug. 31.—Harry K. Thaw's lawyers, taken by surprise yesterday by the sudden move of William Travers Jerome in obtaining through John Boudreau, the Coaticook chief of police, a writ of habeas corpus requiring Thaw's production in the Superior court here on Tuesday, spent the day in conferences. Tonight they gave renewed expression of their belief that the writ would not be sustained.

"If it is sustained," said W. K. McKeown of the Thaw forces, "there is always recourse to appeal, and I am inclined to think that appeal to the Court of Revews or to the Court of Appeals would act as a stay and hold our client in jail, safe from deportation. In the face of such circumstances, I do not see how New York state can make any move until the King's bench convenes in October."

Thaw spent the day in his cell writing letters and dictating to his stenographer.

SENATE COMMITTEE DECIDES TO INCREASE INCOME TAXES.

Finance Body Will Make Maximum Six Per Cent with Graded Scale of Lower Rates.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 31.—[Special.]—The senate finance committee has decided to increase the income tax rates on large incomes. This is a concession forced by the revolt which started among Democrats in the senate against the rates in the income tax provision of the tariff bill as it came from the house. Tonight's change marks the beginning of a tendency which has been predicted ever since the income tax bill was introduced to shift the burden increasingly on men of large wealth.

The exact rates fixed were not given out tonight, but it is known that the maximum is 6 per cent. This is the rate that will apply to all incomes over $500,000 a year.

It is understood that the committee has decided to levy 4 per cent on all incomes from $100,000 to $250,000, 5 per cent on incomes from $250,000 to $500,000, and 6 per cent on all incomes over $500,000.

These latter rates include the normal tax of 1 per cent.

The Point in Buying Diamonds is to know the people from whom you purchase. It is a great mistake to buy from people you know little or nothing about, and needless to do so.

The Peacock reputation covers the quality and the value. The Peacock diamond stock is as extensive as other Peacock lines and always replete with fine, white, brilliant stones, giving a selection seldom equaled and certainly not surpassed.

For more than three-quarters of a century we have been selling diamonds to people who know and demand the best. Our diamond sales have increased steadily—proof of the reliability of our methods—the extent of our stocks and the valuable service offered in selection, the accumulated experience of a long lifetime.

Why not profit by these advantages? They add much to your satisfaction—nothing to the price you pay.

COLUMBUS' FLEET RUNS BLOCKADE

Three Caravels Vanish Northward Over Choppy Lake on Way to Frisco.

ARTIST'S FIGHT FUTILE.

Chicago, Federal, and Park Police Refuse to Stop Boats; May Be Halted at Milwaukee.

The Nina, Pinta, and Santa Maria, replicas of the three small caravels in which Columbus made his way to America ran the blockade out of Chicago yesterday in a choppy lake while Thomas O'Shaughnessy, an artist, representing several organizations, appealed in vain to police and government officials to halt their cruise. The vessels sailed out of the Calumet river at 2 o'clock, and immediately proceeded beyond the three mile line—the police boat's limit of jurisdiction. They are on their way to San Francisco, where they will be exhibited. Mr. O'Shaughnessy and his attorney will leave for Milwaukee early this morning in an effort to obtain an injunction against their leaving that port.

"The caravels are not seaworthy at all," said Mr. O'Shaughnessy. "The promoters of the cruise caulked them up a little with oakum and gave them a coat of paint, but they did not strengthen their hulls as they agreed to do when they obtained their permit from the south park commissioners."

With Lawyer Drafts Injunction.

Soon after the vessels had left the Calumet river Mr. O'Shaughnessy called his lawyer, John F. Rosen, and the two drew a bill for injunction, asking the court to restrain the promoters from taking the caravles.

Mr. Rosen sought all afternoon for a judge, but gave it up when he learned the craft had passed the Chicago river. Meanwhile Mr. O'Shaughnessy had telephoned to the detective bureau and to the South Chicago police. His plea to them was that on the boats were sails given to the south park board in trust for the school children of Chicago.

"They were good," said the artist, "and they said they would send the police boat if they were sure they had the authority."

In an effort to reach the south park commissioners in time he found the general superintendent, J. F. Foster, was out all afternoon. The federal officials said they could not act. The caravels disappeared northward.

Says Board Was Hoodwinked.

"These promoters hoodwinked the commissioners," said Mr. Rosen. "They obtained a permit on false pretenses while most business men and persons interested in the little caravels were out of town. They are not financiers, but they want to make money. The result is they are taking the boats without making them seaworthy, as they promised, and now the least storm will wreck them."

The captain of a tug in South Chicago who has had a great deal to do with the caravels for two years, declared all three rotten.

"Their decks are absolutely rotted and their hulls are not much better. They will go down surely."

Regular, Says Parks Chief.

General Superintendent Foster of the south parks pronounced the sailing regular so far as he knew.

"No order to hold the boats until the commissioners had reconsidered the permit came to me," he said. "We couldn't prevent their taking them now anyway unless we wanted to face a damage suit. In their application for the boats they made no representations at all except that they would exhibit them, take them to the San Francisco fair, and return them. At Quebec they intend to have the caravels docked and completely overhauled for their ocean voyage. If anything happens to them they are responsible, not we."

WIFE AND CHILDREN VANISH.

Man Tells Police Family Left to Visit Neighbor and Has Not Been Seen Since.

C. Michael Fadden of 5019 North Francisco avenue reported to the police last night the disappearance of his wife, aged 50 years, and their two children, aged 7 and 3 years. He said they left home at noon to go to a neighbor's house, and have not been seen since.

MOTORS KILL 16; AUGUST RECORD

PEDESTRIANS CHIEF PREY

Rear Motorcycle Seat Throne of Death for Two Victims of Accidents.

Fatalities caused by automobile accidents during last month exceeded those of any August since motoring became general in Cook county.

According to records obtainable at Coroner Hoffman's office yesterday, accidents within the county limits took a toll of fourteen deaths, not including two deaths in motorcycle mishaps. The list does not include Chicagoans killed outside the county whose cases are being handled by Coroner Hoffman. Among those were the five persons killed on a Monon grade crossing in St. John, Ind.

The greatest toll was taken from pedestrians, seven being run over who were killed instantly or incurred injuries of which they died later. Two lost their lives when their automobile fell over an embankment, one was killed in a grade crossing accident, one when the automobile collided with a street car, one by being knocked from his bicycle, one by being crushed between an automobile and a trolley pole, and one by being thrown out of an automobile when it struck a telegraph pole.

Both motorcycle accidents, as well as practically all mishaps involving motorcycles in which persons were inujred, were due to the same cause—that of carrying a passenger on a rear seat.

NEWPORT WOMEN IN CRASH

Mrs. Leroy May Die; Daughter, Mrs. French, Is Injured.

AUTO RUNS INTO A TREE.

Relatives Dash to Boston to Bedside of Social Leaders.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 31.—Mrs. Stuyvesant Leroy and her daughter, Mrs. Amos Tuck French of New York and Newport, were seriously injured in an aufomobile accident near Canton today. Mrs. Leroy's condition is regarded as critical tonight. Both women were taken to a hotel here.

The party, including Mrs. French's youngest son, Francis, and his tutor, was proceeding from Newport to Boston. Near Canton the forward right spring on the automobile broke. As the chauffeur lost control of the car it crashed into a tree and Mrs. French and her mother were thrown out. The others managed to keep their seats and were not injured.

A passing automobile brought the two women to this city, where physicians attended them.

Relatives Summoned to Bedside.

As Mrs. Leroy's condition was found to be serious her family physician and nurses were hurriedly summoned from Newport. Word was also sent to relatives. Stuyvesant Leroy, son of Mrs. Leroy, was at Narragansett Pier. He rushed to Providence in an automobile and there caught a train for Boston. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Geraghty, Mrs. French's daughter and son-in law, were summoned from their home in Woburn and were here tonight.

Fears were expressed regarding the outcome in the case of Mrs. Leroy. Mrs. French, while not so seriously injured as her mother, was under the care of physicians tonight. Her husband, Amos Tuck French, who is in Tuxedo, is expected here tomorrow morning.

Mrs. Leroy Prominent in Society.

Mrs. Leroy is 65 years old. She has been prominent for many years in society and in philanthropic work. Her late husband was a banker in New York.

These are copies of French models and any one, for all practical purposes, will be just as satisfactory to the wearer as an original model that would cost three or four times as much. They come in the same soft silks and crepes and charmeuses and have all the clinging lines of the French models.

We have a splendid showing of dresses of this character.

Description of the three styles illustrated above:

(1) This charming gown is made of crepe de chine of the finest quality. The waist and draped part of the skirt is knife plaited, and the lower part of the skirt hangs in straight folds. There is a standing collar of black moire silk in back and a ruffle of fine white net in front. The striking girdle is a combination of black moire ribbon and Japanese crepe of bright colors—closing with a large bow of black in the back. Price $45

(3) This lovely gown is made of dark blue crepe de chine with a dainty vest effect of white net and a white lace ruffle around the neck and sleeves. The waist blouses all around and is trimmed with tiny blue buttons—drop shoulders. The skirt hangs gracefully in folds from the waist down. There is a crushed belt of the same material—closing with a smart tailored bow in front. Price $30

In High Class Tailored Suits

We Are Showing a Splendid Variety of the Latest French Styles

These Suits embody all the new features so much desired by the refined, ultra fashionable people. Among them the striking military blouses, the cutaway blouse, the long straight tailored back. Some have fur and velour cuffs and collars.

The materials are soft and pliable so as to give the much desired clinging effect without having the garment tight.

YET ANOTHER CONSPIRACY.

Congressman McDermott is the latest victim of the prevailing pastime of conspiracy. He has no claims as conspiracy discoverer which can compare to his fellow martyrs—Mr. Lorimer, for example, who was the victim of a conspiracy which included two grand juries, public prosecutors, a governor and legislators of Illinois, about 90 per cent of the press of the country, a majority of the United States senate, and the president of the United States.

Hardly less remarkable is the current conspiracy of the "trust press" and the "vice trust" against the fearless young state's attorney because of his fearless determination to protect the guileless gambler from the flashlight photograph.

McDermott will have to do better in the discovery line or get out of the contest.

FACTORY PLANNING.

An indictment that was recently drawn against modern society by Sir Alfred Russel Wallace is now redrawn by Harvard's president emeritus, Dr. Charles W. Eliot. The civilization of the last hundred years, Dr. Eliot told the hygiene congress the other day, seems to be drifting in the direction of self-effacement. No other interpretation, he said, can be placed upon the "reduced vitality of the multitudes that inhabit the large cities." The size of the family, Dr. Eliot reminds us, has been steadily diminishing in the last century. The army of women who are incapacitated for bearing and nursing children is increasing.

Dr. Eliot winds up his excoriation of society with a plea for "preventive and remedial measures," especially against the factory system of today. This emphasis on the factory system is timely. We have heard much talk in recent years about "city planning." This city planning includes, of course, also newer ideas on the building and distribution of shops and factories in the city. Still the subject of factory planning is important enough to warrant careful individual consideration.

Industry is the main cause of slums and congestion in the United States. The indiscriminate piling up of factories in one section of the city without proper consideration for home and dwelling facilities in that district fosters congested and insanitary tenements. The surest way to solve the tantalizing tenement problems of today is for the big industries to choose sites for their shops and factories in sections of the city that are spacious and roomy, and will permit of the building of proper homes for the workmen in these industries.

In Germany this plan of coördination between factory and home planning and building has been followed for a number of years. The result has been a considerable improvement in the homes and home life of the toiling masses. Similar results have been obtained in other countries in Europe where factory planning has been made a civic rather than an individual matter. The United States well might profit by the experience of other countries.

ADVENTURE.

The other day we offered a modest admiring footnote upon the wonderful life of the Provençal naturalist, Henri Fabre, the "Insect's Homer," who adventured within the horizon of his own cottage garden and found more marvels than Marco Polo in the magic east.

The wonder of life is not confined to places and events, is not only in hairbreadth 'scapes, battle, tempest, and the death of heroes, we said tritely. It is in the mind, the soul of man. One man finds it in far archipelagoes, another in his cottage garden.

But the lure of the long trail isn't done with yet, even though we are suburbanizing humanity pretty rapidly. There was young Tomlinson. He, too, had a garden in London, small, wet, and infertile. And every day he left it for a desk in Fleet street, Humdrum claimed him for its own, until one day he slammed the door in its face and was off to central Brazil on a tramp steamer.

He tells us about it all in his book, "The Sea and the Jungle." Tomlinson isn't really an adventurer. Suburbanism has tainted him deeply, and when romance claims her price of pain and peril Tomlinson longs for the sweet security of the fireside and admits that voyaging by proxy has its merits. The trail hunger is not really in him and, being an honest man, he reveals it. But that makes his story all the more remarkable and, to most of us, vividly understandable. Very few of us would have borne the travail of that adventure as Tomlinson did, and fewer still could have recorded it as he has. Read it and you will know more of this wonderful world than you have, you will perhaps discover the real tropics for the first time, and you will realize how in remote, unheard of lands, under staggering heat and constant threat of death, indomitable men of your own race, even now as you sit fretfully in the cool of your electric fan, are pushing forward the outworks of civilization. Tomlinson had the pluck to find that out for himself and for the rest of us who march comfortably and rather smugly where the adventurers have blazed and the pioneers have wrought for us and those after us.

The blood of Hakluyt and Frobisher and Drake and Cook is still in the veins of men and the sunset beckons them.

BUSINESS AND PUBLICITY.

A few days ago THE TRIBUNE published the letter of an irate reader who accused THE TRIBUNE of "heaping abuse on the business men of the country in the Mulhall story." It is to the credit of the common sense of business men that this childish and fuddle headed view of the Mulhall exposure has been rare. But it may be helpful to those who resent the publicity given the methods of the N. A. M. officials to point out that neither THE TRIBUNE, nor any of the press, nor Mulhall himself has "heaped abuse" nor even criticised "business men" in connection with the latter's charges. It is only the extremely foolish few, like our irate reader, who identify American business men with the N. A. M. officials, and imply an acceptance of their viewpoint and acts, who are discrediting American business men.

No one doubts that the great majority of the members of the N. A. M. would have disapproved of the methods adopted by the overzealous and unscrupulous officials who devised its methods. Those methods are exposed to view not upon faith in the word of Mulhall but in the actual correspondence of Emery, Kirby, and others. The evidence cannot be discredited by the abuse of Mulhall, and it discloses a state of affairs that is abhorrent to good citizenship and absolutely incompatible with our principles of government. Business men as a class are too intelligent and too "American" to approve, for example, such an underground and dishonest device as intimidating the newspapers with fake letters written by paid clerks and purporting to be genuine letters of the public. It takes only a very rudimentary sense of honesty and a very slight sense of public policy to recognize the viciousness of such a resort.

The denial of the right of any organization or class to employ the secret manipulation and coercion resorted to by the officials and agents of the N. A. M. is simply an assertion that our American political theories mean what they say. No organization or class needs to adopt such methods, and only minds that are perverted with prejudice or selfishness will adopt or condone them.

As for the revelations of Mulhall being an injury to business or business men, they could be so only in case business men defend them, which they have not and would not. On the other hand, they should benefit business and business men by proving the necessity of keeping a stricter watch by the rank and file of such associations as the N. A. M. over what their representatives are doing and the way in which they are doing it.

There is no question that the commercial interests of the nation should have a powerful influence in the shaping of legislation. But it should be an open influence, exercised directly through honest publicity and candid propaganda.

PEACE IN EVOLUTION.

Wise words, most profitable for the meditation of the American nation, are the following from the lips of Viscount Haldane, lord high chancellor of Great Britain.

"It would be a very sanguine person," he said, when asked his opinion of the influence of the peace palace at The Hague, "who can see the dawn of international peace. It is useless to look ahead toward the permanent cessation of war in the near future. We can only do our best and trust to the progress of opinion. The coming of the millennium of peace must be an evolution like everything else, but some day we must come to the realization of the fact that we can settle our differences in a better way than by quarreling with each other."

Americans need the hint badly. We are national optimists, because we have been favored by nature and by fortune. The pressure of imminent national peril does not compel us to look facts in the face or closely to follow changing conditions. We are idealistic as well as materialistic and commercial. Therefore we neglect the need of national defense and are over ready to save money by believing in the millennium.

Peace on earth was preached two thousand years ago. Mr. Carnegie is not going to establish it over night.

How to Keep Well, By Dr. W. A. Evans.

HEALTH IS WEALTH

Questions pertinent to hygiene, sanitation, and prevention of disease, if matters of general interest, will be answered in this column. Where space will not permit or the subject is not suitable, letters will be personally answered, subject to proper limitations and where a stamped, addressed envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases. Requests for such service cannot be answered.

BERIBERI.

THE Japanese, in preparing for the war with Russia, decided that they would prevent preventable disease. They were a small nation; Russia was a large one. Preventable disease was four times as destructive as bullets. If they were to prevent preventable disease and the Russians were to follow precedents, their army would be as effective as an army four times as great. They would whip the Russians by preventing preventable disease—simple enough!

They overlooked one disease; they classed beriberi as a non-preventable. Ninety-seven thousands of their troops had this disease. As a sick soldier requires another soldier to wait on him, that meant nearly 200,000 troops made ineffective.

Beriberi is a baffling disease. It is an inflammation of the nerves. As a result of the nerve changes, the sick person has dropsy, becomes weak and eventually dies.

There is a little beriberi scattered around the United States, but not much. We never thought much about it until we became imperialistic. When we took over coolies and laborers of similar standards of life we took over beriberi.

We put our students to work on it at once. Those diseases of the other fellow, his wife and his children, interest us greatly. After beriberi we went with hammer and tongs.

It baffled the best specialists we had. Some said a bacillus caused it. Others said it was due to a monotonous diet of rice.

Each side could show that the other side was wrong, but it could not show it was right. The bacteria advocates showed in turn that each chemical in rice was incapable by its presence or absence of causing the disease.

Now the rice group has won. That it has proved its position is generally accepted. Beriberi is due to taking rice deprived of a delicate ferment present in the bran. It is caused, not by eating rice, but by eating polished rice. If the rice is not polished it can be fed indefinitely without harm, or, if a little bran is added, the harm is escaped.

If beriberi subjects, in the early stages, are given a little of this bran, they recover from the disease. It has been proved many times on fowls, and is not being applied to men.

It is proposed to change the eating customs of the rice eating people, at least to the extent of having them eat undermilled rice.

Why did the chemical escape the earlier analyses? They were for phosphorus, carbon, proteins, carbohydrates, and similar gross substances. Nobody thought of looking for this delicate ferment in the bran, and, besides, it was present in a minute homeopathic dose, a grain to a barrel or some like laughable dilution.

Maj. Hess of the army tells us that the Japanese discipline was equal to their preparedness. In the next year they will eat undermilled rice, and they will thus prevent the disablement of 97,000 of their troops.

HAIR DYES INJURIOUS.

C. B. writes: "Are preparations for the prevention of gray hair or coloring injurious to the eyesight? Can you prescribe a wholesome hair preparation? Is it better to discontinue the use of these preparations at once or to do this gradually, and let the hair be restored to its natural color? Is a glass of salt water before breakfast helpful?

REPLY.

1. No, but they are otherwise injurious. Read the article in "Nostrums and Quackery" on hair dyes.
2 and 4. No.
3. At once.

CUBAN ITCH.

M. writes: "I hope that you will give the public some data as to the nature and particularly the characteristic symptoms of a highly contagious eruption called sometimes 'Cuban itch'; also some suggestions as to treatment and prevention."

REPLY.

Cuban itch is smallpox. It came into the United States from Mexico about the time our troops were returning from Cuba. Some one jumped to an unwarranted conclusion and dubbed this brand of smallpox Cuban itch. The Cubans tell us they never heard of Cuban itch.

Cuban itch should be cared for in the smallpox hospital. It requires no treatment. The disease gets well spontaneously in about ten days. Treatment then consists in intelligently "standing by."

WASSERMAN TEST COST.

G. S. writes: "Will you kindly inform me what is the usual charge for a Wasserman test? Also if there is a dispensary in the city where a test may be procured free of charge?"

REPLY.

1. Five to ten dollars.
2. The city laboratory may make the test for you gratis. Before many years they will be making this and other tests as a matter of routine. If you enter the county hospital they will make the test if it is thought necessary.

HAS CURATIVE VALUE.

Mecca writes: "If a person is inclined to be nervous is a sponge bath just before going to bed likely to tend toward insomnia?"

REPLY.

On the contrary it has a little value in curing insomnia.

NORTH SHORE MOSQUITOES.

H. M. P. writes: "I am living about three blocks south of the depot in Winnetka. Can you tell me whether any investigation of the mosquitoes on that part of the north shore has been made? Is it possible that they come from the Skokie marshes, which are a mile and a half west of us? So far as I know there is little stagnant water in the neighborhood."

REPLY.

I know of no comprehensive study of the mosquitoes of the north shore. In my opinion the Skokie is not responsible for any considerable part of the north shore mosquitoes. They are not disease carriers. Such of them as are able to carry malaria are not infected.

Perhaps the north shore citizens can persuade a state entomologist to organize a mosquito campaign for them next season.

SIR ALAN JOHNSTONE, married to the sister of Gifford Pinchot, and who has been for some time British minister at The Hague, has again been passed over in the matter of promotion to an embassy; and while Sir Maurice de Bunsen has been appointed to succeed Sir Fairfax Cartwright as ambassador at Vienna, Sir Arthur Hardinge has been promoted from the legation at Lisbon to the vacant embassy at Madrid.

Sir Maurice de Bunsen began his diplomatic career in the United States as an attaché at Washington in 1878, and while of German origin, may be said to owe the start of the fortunes of his house to America.

The first Bunsen, Christian Charles by name, and the grandfather of Sir Maurice, was a young student of humble birth at the University of Bonn, in the most straitened circumstances, when by a piece of great good luck he was selected to serve as private tutor and as traveling companion to young William B. Astor, son of that John Jacob Astor who laid the foundation of the great wealth of his family.

The couple wandered all over Europe together, visited Goethe, Schopenhauer, and Niebuhr, and when finally young Astor returned to New York Bunsen was provided for in a financial sense, and in the most generous fashion, for the remainder of his days, and was able afterwards to marry at Rome an English girl, a Miss Waddington, aunt of the French statesman and foreign minister of that name, whose American widow, daughter of President King of Columbia university, New York, is a frequent visitor to America.

At Rome, Christian Bunsen became very intimate with the scholarly Prussian envoy, Niebuhr, who secured his appointment as secretary of his legation, and, acquiring the personal friendship of the then heir apparent to the Prussian crown, was, on the succession of that prince to the throne as King Frederick William IV., promoted to the post of Prussian minister plenipotentiary in London, and ennobled.

His sons, George and Ernest von Bunsen, both distinguished themselves by their pronounced liberal views, which gave such offense to Prince Bismarck, that he virtually drove them from German official life. Indeed, Ernest von Bunsen resigned his position in the German army and diplomatic service and established himself in England, where he married Miss Elizabeth Gurney, a daughter of the famous old Norfolkshire house of that name. He returned to Germany to take care of the sick and wounded in the war of 1870, for which service old Emperor William insisted upon appointing him to be one of his chamberlains.

This did not, however, prevent Ernest von Bunsen from having his son brought up as an Englishman, and Maurice, after graduating from Oxford, entered the British diplomatic service, where his promotion was rapid. He is married to Miss Bertha Corry, a relative of the late Lord Rowton, and through her is in possession of a very comfortable fortune.

He has represented Great Britain at Madrid for the last seven years, with considerable success, and was one of the plenipotentiaries at the international congress of Algeciras, concerning Morocco. Moreover, he played a very important rôle as mediator in bringing about a settlement of the serious differences between France and Spain on the subject of their respective spheres in Morocco.

With regard to Sir Arthur Hardinge, the new British ambassador at Madrid, he is one of Lord Cromer's men, in this sense: that he learned diplomacy under him at Cairo. He is a grandson of that first Viscount Hardinge who was governor general of Canada, commander in chief of the British army, and one of the principal lieutenants of the Duke of Wellington throughout the peninsular war.

Sir Arthur stands third in the line of succession to the old field marshal's viscounty, and is a cousin of the present and third viscount, and also of Lord Hardinge, the viceroy of India. He was a college friend of Lord Curzon, was in attendance upon Emperor Nicholas when he visited India as czarovitch, repeatedly acted as chargé d'affaires at Cairo, and was afterwards British plenipotentiary at Zanzibar, where he suppressed in a thoroughly Cromerlike manner a palace revolution and the attempts of a foreign encouraged usurper to secure the throne, at the same time quietly side-tracking intrigues with a view to foreign interference.

Sir Arthur is a man of considerable sturdiness of character and of moral courage. For when Zanzibar became subject to British protection and the question of the abolition of slavery came on the tapis he insisted that the emancipation of the slaves should be gradual, instead of immediate, on the ground that otherwise the labor conditions would become impossible; that the suddenly freed slaves would become worthless vagabonds, and the island would degenerate into a desert, owing to the lack of cultivation.

Of course there was a great outcry among the stay at homes in England against him for advocating the continuance of slavery under the British flag, and he was subjected to no end of abuse, petitions being even presented to the government for his recall. But in the end his advice prevailed with the foreign and colonial departments and he was left by the home government to execute in Zanzibar the policy which he had recommended.

On leaving Zanzibar Sir Arthur for several years was minister at Teheran, where he acquired an extraordinary knowledge of the Persian language and Persian literature. He is married to Mina Ellis, daughter of the late General Sir Arthur Ellis, who was so long connected with the household of Edward VII.

Five years previous to becoming his wife she had figured indirectly in a somewhat mysterious tragedy. For, engaged to the present Marquis of Queensberry's elder brother, Lord Drumlanrig (lord in waiting to Queen Victoria, and private secretary to her then premier, Lord Rosebery), he was killed while out shooting, within a week of the date set for the wedding. An attempt was made to prove that his death was due to the accidental discharge of his gun, but all the evidence was in favor of suicide.

Members of the Irish Nationalist party and also a number of the English adherents of Premier Asquith are urging him to take steps to secure the expulsion of Sir Edward Carson from the privy council, in consequence of the tenor of his speeches in the north of Ireland, inciting Ulster to resistance against the government, even if necessary by force, sooner than submit to home rule legislation.

While privy councilors are removable, in spite of the popular impression to the contrary, they can only be removed by the sovereign, since they hold their office as privy councilors wholly at his pleasure. The monarch is at perfect liberty to strike a man's name from the list of the privy council even if he has only given him cause for private offense, and though his public conduct is blameless.

Thus, Charles Fox was on the right side of the law when in May, 1798, George III. deprived him of his membership of the privy council, and Henry Grattan, who was stricken from the list in October of the same year, had also been guilty of no shortcoming in the eyes of the law.

When the late Sir Charles Dilke became involved in the Crawford divorce case and was made the object of a public hue and cry by newspapers, led by William V. Stead, much pressure was brought to bear upon Queen Victoria to strike his name from the privy council. But different counsels prevailed. He was allowed to retain his membership.

PROBLEM OF CONDUCT.

I take a Root street car every morning, and our train is flagged daily at Wentworth avenue by a young lady who is a stenographer at the "yards." She boards the car attired (aside from other apparel) in a waist which has eleven buttons in the back. She manages to button the five top buttons and the lower four, but evidently cannot reach the two middle ones. Should I offer to button them for her?

RIGHTS OF MAN CURED OF INSANITY.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—A's wife claimed he was subject to apoplectic fits and wanted to get rid of him on that account, although he made a living for his family. She went to a ladies' society, who took him away from home, and after being tried he was sent to Kankakee as insane. After being there several months his sister took him out on parole, and later he was released as improved. A makes a good living now for his family, but his wife seems as if she wants to get rid of him again, and claims that he drinks. His friends are afraid that she will send him to Kankakee again. When A was sent to Kankakee he lost his citizen rights and would like to get them back. (1) How can he get them back? (2) Can his wife force him to stay with her? He is afraid of further trouble from her. He is willing to pay a certain sum of money every week to support her and the children.

NO WAGES WHILE INJURED.

Morgan Park, Ill., Aug. 26.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—A man working in a rolling mill is injured by molten iron dropping in his eye. He is under the care of the company's physician for ten days and is then given a certificate releasing him from the doctor's care. He goes back to work for the company, but is not paid for the time he was off. Does this come under the workmen's compensation act? If so, how much can he claim, full or part of his wages? If not has he any other claim against the company?
F. B.

We cannot advise you whether or not the firm employing F. B. comes under the terms of the workmen's compensation act. We advise F. B. to ask for his wages, and if the company refuses to pay them to take the matter to the Legal Aid society, 31 West Lake street, Chicago.
TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FIVE PER CENT A MONTH.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—I borrowed $100 from a woman which I am to pay back in twelve months. I gave her as security my furniture, which I had in storage at the time. I am now keeping house with the same. Her husband wrote a contract on a plain piece of paper, according to which I am to pay $5 per month interest on the $100 until the year expires, when I am to pay back the sum borrowed. I signed my name, and so did a friend, to that effect, and then a notary public placed his seal on it. I am unable to pay the $5 interest per month at present, having a very sick husband on my hands, and being dependent on roomers for our living. Now this woman threatens to take my furniture away from me, although she promised not to do so at the time I borrowed the money. Having signed no notes but that paper, what I wish to know is whether paper is binding.
A. M.

The paper which you signed is probably a chattel mortgage and gives the creditor the right to take the furniture if the notes are not paid. The rate of interest of 5 per cent per month is illegal, and for this reason the creditor has no right to collect any interest on this debt. The highest rate of interest which can be legally contracted for in the state of Illinois is 7 per cent per year.

ALIEN LANDHOLDERS.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Can an alien noncitizen of the United States buy and hold property in Illinois? If so, how long? Can he hold for only six years? What can be done with the property after six years, if the owner is not and does not intend to become a citizen of the United States.
ALIEN.

Under the law of Illinois an alien is entitled to hold real estate for six years. At the end of this time the state's attorney may bring an action to sell the property and dispose of the proceeds. We do not believe that it is customary for the state's attorney to undertake any such proceedings, but it is possible for him to do so.

"THE TRIBUNE'S" "SENSATIONALISM."

Chicago, Aug. 30.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—THE TRIBUNE, because of its activities in exposing and destroying evil conditions in every direction, is accused of being sensational by those whose acts are questionable. In this connection please allow me to say that a thief, when caught in the act of purloining the watch of a citizen, has a most wonderful sensation. Then follow the uncanny cries and mournful wails of his immediate associates and deep sympathizers of all roguedom, who forthwith strenuously endeavor to imbue the mind of the public with the idea that the prisoner is being badly abused and unjustly persecuted by the upholders of the law, declaring, of course, at the same time that the honest policeman who made the arrest was a notoriety seeker, longing for promotion and caring nothing for the protection of the ill used citizen. To the prisoner and his besmirched friends the policeman is a real sensationalist.

An immense sensation was given Lorimer and the Lorimerites when THE TRIBUNE obtained and published the facts relative to the buying of a sufficient number of votes at Springfield to send Lorimer to the United States senate in 1911. The exposure of this crookedness and "presumption in high places" by THE TRIBUNE was a glorious stroke that resulted in good to the whole country. Immediately, however, the word went out from Lorimer and his henchmen that THE TRIBUNE was a foul, sensational sheet, unfit for them or their children to read. To them THE TRIBUNE is sensational and yellow.

Tearney and the Tearneyites experienced a great sensation when Tearney was exposed as an ordinance breaker by THE TRIBUNE, and on Tearney's conviction he and his allies cried out so all the earth could hear that THE TRIBUNE was continually boiling over with sensational news and that it was "going to the dogs," seemingly because it was pursuing a righteous course. To Tearney and the Tearneyites, THE TRIBUNE is sensational.

The N. A. M. has recently undergone the greatest sensation experienced during its whole existence. THE TRIBUNE, in exposing its underhanded way of influencing legislation for its own selfish purposes, gave it a thrill that almost congealed the marrow in its very bones, for which THE TRIBUNE has become to the N. A. M. the greatest muckraking and most sensational paper in the world.

I have no "ax to grind" in saying that for years I have been a reader of THE TRIBUNE, and I have never found it catering to any special class; neither has it ever appeared intentionally unfair to any one. As far as possible it has always been on the side of right and justice and has always sought the highest and best for all. In fact, THE TRIBUNE has been so fair and just to all mankind that any attack made on it means an attack on me and mine, and every one of its readers, I know, feels the same as I do about the matter.

No one who is familiar with the infinite breadth of the policies of THE TRIBUNE will be in the least influenced against it on account of the vile denunciations of the mudslingers whom THE TRIBUNE has caught redhanded in their crooked games.

I consider THE TRIBUNE a stanch friend of the masses, as its every move proves, and as such it will be flourishing like a "green bay tree" when its enemies, the vote buyers, grafters, gamblers, and "bent" politicians, have reached a dusty stage in their "long journey."

Truly, THE TRIBUNE is a highly sensational paper to the wrongdoer, and may it remain ever thus.

GOLFERS TO OPEN TITLE PLAY TODAY

U. S. HONORS AS REWARD.

Over Half of Contestants Take Part in Final Practice; Links Are in Good Shape.

Garden City, N.Y., Aug. 31.—More than half of the golfers who will compete in the national amateur golf championship tomorrow took part in the practice rounds on the Garden City links today. While there was no attempt at low scores, several threesome and foursome matches were decided. The participants were willing to tell which team won, but none could be induced to give out his exact score.

All were a unit in saying the fairway and putting greens were in excellent condition. The course has been reconstructed since the national event was decided there five years ago, additional traps and bunkers making it a trifle more difficult. There is no amateur record for the course as it now stands, but it is said one of the local club members had gone around in 69.

Champion Plays over Course.

Since the names of the 145 entrants were made public many aspirants for this year's honor have played over the links, among them being at least four former national champions, as well as Jerome D. Travers, the present title holder. Of these Eben M. Byers of Pittsburgh, Pa., a former title holder, made a round of 71 yesterday after missing a three foot putt on the home green. This was easily the best score made during the last five days and will stand as a record unless some candidate for the championship turns in a better card during the qualifying rounds tomorrow and Tuesday.

The opening day's play will be confined to the first half of the thirty-six hole qualifying round, and the sixty-four players who lead will continue at medal play for the other eighteen holes Tuesday morning. Then the thirty-two who qualify for the championship will be paired for a match play round of eighteen holes. The second and third rounds, as well as the semi-final and final contests, will be at thirty-six holes.

Stars Engage in Practice.

Among those who played today were Jerome D. Travers, the champion; Walter J. Travis, Garden City; Findlay S. Douglas, Nassau; W. C. Fownes Jr., and Eben M. Byers, Pittsburgh, all former champions; Fred Herreshoff of the Home club, Heinrich Schmidt of Worcester, Mass., who distinguished himself in England and Scotland this year; Charles Evans Jr. of Chicago, and John M. Ward, who is entered from the Home club.

Play will begin at 9:30 o'clock and the pairs will be sent off at intervals of five minutes.

GATHERUM SETS COURSE MARK AT MIDLOTHIAN WITH 71 CARD.

Professional Goes Out in 36 and Comes Back in 35 in Foursome—Heavy Schedule for Today.

Playing in a foursome at Windsor John Gatherum, the Midlothian professional, lowered the record for the home course to 71. Gatherum was paired with George Smalley against professional Bill Brown and Ralph Smalley. The Midlothian expert went out in 36 and home in 35. His card and the par figures for the course are as follows:

Gatherum—Out ....4 4 5 4 5 3 4 4 3—36
Par—Out ....4 4 5 3 4 4 5 4 4—36
Gatherum—In ....4 4 5 3 3 4 4 5 3—35—71
Par—In ....5 4 4 5 3 4 4 5 4—38—74

George Kinsman, the Westmoreland professional, who was playing in another match, scored a 74, his figures being as follows:

Out ....4 4 4 4 5 3 5 4 4—37
In ....5 4 5 5 3 4 4 4 3—37—74

All of the local clubs have events scheduled for today. Glen Oak has a big program of golf and other games and social events at night. Midlothian offers a fine line of festivities. A driving contest, two ball foursome and blind bogey event will be staged at Belmont. Westward Ho players will qualify for the Robbins cup.

BRITONS BREAK COURSE MARK.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 31.—Preparatory to their matches with local stars here tomorrow, Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, the British golf professionals now touring America, each lowered the record for the Detroit Golf club links today. Both turned in scores of 71. The Englishmen were opposed by J. T. McMillan and Archie Simpson, whose scores were 79 and 77 respectively. The previous record for the course was 75.

SONDER RACES START TODAY.

Yankee and American Yachts to Meet in First Contest of International Series.

Marblehead, Mass., Aug. 31.—The six boats which are to uphold the Sonder yacht rivalry of Germany and the United States in the fifth international series will meet in their first race tomorrow. As good weather is predicted, it is expected large holiday crowds will watch the contest afloat and ashore. The six yachts, the German Angela IV., Serum, and Wittelbach X., and the American Cima, Ellen, and Sprig spent the day sail stretching.

It transpired today that the German yachtsmen left their fastest Sonder, Resi, at home, rather than violate the letter, if not the spirit, of the regulations governing the contests.

The international agreement provides the yachts shall be constructed of mahogany, cedar, or some equally heavy wood. Resi is planked with Gaboon mahogany, which is much lighter than the San Domingo variety. Resi swept the field at Kiel this spring, but the German race committee refused to take advantage of any narrow technicality and relegating it to the yachting paddock, took the next fastest yachts. Serum is said to be the heavy weather boat of the trio; Wittelsbach X., with its scow bow, the mainstay in light airs; while Angela IV. is regarded as the medium boat.

All Germany is said to be watching Angela IV. Had its owner, Crown Prince William, carried out his plans, America would have seen not only a royal yacht but a royal prince and future emperor in a yachting battle for the first time in the history of the country. The proposed trip of the crown prince was vetoed by the emperor, but the yacht is here, and will be the first royal yacht ever raced in American waters.

There is much interest among yachtsmen as to the relative abilities of the two trios, in light, medium, and heavy winds. Some of the American yachtsmen are so confident of the superiority of Sprig, owned by John L. Saltenstall, that they were backing it at even money against the field.

SHOOTERS READY FOR TOURNEY

First Event of International Meet at Camp Perry to Be Individual Contest at 300 Meters.

Camp Perry, O., Aug. 31.—Everything here is ready for the opening on Monday of the international shooting matches. The first event will be the individual match on the 300 meter range. In this match the United States army magazine rifles will be used.

The match will consist of sixty shots, fired in six strings of ten shots each, standing, kneeling, and prone. Eighteen sighting shots will be allowed. Any make of service ammunition will be permitted and also the use of the sling. The winner will receive a gold medal and $200 in gold.

A meeting of the delegates of each of the nations was held this morning and the conditions of the shoots were agreed upon. A memorial service was held at the flag staff in front of the firing line this afternoon for Francisco Zegarra Ballon of Peru, who was accidentally shot and killed on Thursday by a teammate.

The tryout for the United States revolver team gives the final results: C. M. McCutcheon, Colorado, 494; J. H. Snook, Ohio, 486; P. Hanford, New York, 480; J. A. Deitz, New York, 480.

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS.

James J. Corbett, former heavyweight champion of the world, celebrates the forty-seventh anniversary of his birth today, having been born in San Francisco, Cal., on Sept. 1, 1866. While employed as a bank clerk Corbett took up boxing and soon became the amateur champion of his native city. Later he joined the professional ranks, and, after defeating Duncan McDonald, Martin Costello, Billy Wel[illegible] several lesser lights of the [illegible] game, he engaged in his first big bout (1889), in which he won over Joe Choynski in twenty-three rounds. In 1890 Corbett defeated Jake Kilrain, and in 1892 he won the championship by knocking out John L. Sullivan in twenty-one rounds. The following year he knocked out Charlie Mitchell, the English champion, in three rounds. Corbett was now the undisputed champion of the world. He held the title until 1897, when he was forced to take the count at the hands of Bob Fitzsimmons in fourteen rounds. His three greatest fights include the sixty-one round draw with Peter Jackson in 1891, his defeat of Sullivan in 1892, and his hard battle with Jim Jeffries in 1900, in which Corbett was put to sleep in the twenty-third round. Since retiring from the ring, after his second defeat at the hands of Jeffries in 1903, Corbett has centered his energy in work behind the footlights and has become a successful actor.

WALTERS VS. CLABBY TODAY

FAST CONTEST EXPECTED.

Boston Fight Promoters Want Carl Morris to Meet Frank Moran.

BY WALTER H. ECKERSALL.

Billy Walters, the ex-sailor boxer, and Eddie Clabby will box ten rounds this afternoon at Hammond in the first match of the elimination tourney, which will be held to select a welterweight champion. The winner of today's bout will be matched to meet either "Spike" Kelly or "Wildcat" Ferns at the next show, which will be held the latter part of the month.

The contest is expected to result in plenty of action in every round. Both boxers are of the slugging type, and are sure to mix matters from the first tap of the bell. Walters is anxious to win by a knockout in order to redeem himself for his defeat by Kelly at Kenosha. Clabby is a comer and is sure to put up a great fight in his home town.

Carl Morris, the Oklahoma heavyweight, will act as Clabby's chief second. George Dugdale will be Walters' chief aid. Four bouts will precede the main contest, the first to start promptly at 2:30 o'clock.

Larney Lichtenstein, who looks after the interests of Carl Morris, yesterday received an offer from Boston promoters for a ten round bout with Frank Moran of Pittsburgh on Sept. 19. If satisfactory terms are offered Lichtenstein said he would agree to the match.

A lot of local interest centers around the ten round bout between Steve Ketchel and Danny Goodman at Superior, Wis., tonight. There's considerable feeling between these lightweights and an interesting battle is looked for.

Charley White is scheduled to go twelve rounds with Johnny Griffiths at Canton, O. Charley believes Griffiths is a tough fighter and knows he will have to fight all the way to win.

George "Knockout" Brown will step ten rounds with Gus Christie of Milwaukee at Terre Haute. The Greek originally was scheduled to meet Jack Dillon of Indianapolis, but owing to an injury Dillon called off the match. Christie was substituted.

George Dugdale, manager of Walters, has received an offer from promoters in New Orleans for a return match between the ex-sailor and "Young" Denny. Walters was given a shade over the southerner in their first meeting, and Denny is anxious to secure a return match. Dugdale said he would take the match if guaranteed $500 with a privilege of 35 per cent of the receipts.

Fred Gilmore yesterday announced that the match scheduled for today at Superior, Wis., between "Spike" Kelly and Tommy Sheehan has been postponed until Sept. 9. Jimmy McGovern, one of Gilmore's lightweights, will meet Johnny Tillman in the eight round semi-windup.

Goodman Victor Over Thomas.

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 31.—Danny Goodman defeated "Young" Thomas in a six round bout on the range last night. Goodman's cross was too much for Thomas and he had him all but out at the finish.

BALKE TAKES CYCLE FEATURE.

Beats Joe Wolter in Special Race at Riverview—Local Team Beats Detroit, 10 to 1.

The great riding of Charley Balke and Joe Wolter was the feature of the racing at Riverview motordrome last night. In the special race Caffarella and Verrill never were in the hunt. Balke and Wolter had each of the three mile heats to themselves after a few laps. In every race Wolter led Balke until the final lap, then lost out by a narrow margin. The time in the final heat was 2:04 1-5, the fastest of the season. Chicago finished one, two, three in the final of the league championship race, which gave the local team the meet over Detroit by 10 points to 1. A special Labor day card is billed for tonight.

DAVIS HURLERS OUST LEADERS.

Defeat O'Mahoneys by 4 to 4 Count, and Brian Borus Take First Place in League.

By a terrific attack in the closing minutes of the first half the Davis hurling team ousted the O'Mahoneys from first place in the league by defeating them at Gaelic park yesterday, 14 to 4. The Brian Borus went into first place, only two games remaining in the schedule. Fierce driving by Capt. Roathe, Fullback Hessian, and Forward Howard gave the Davis team an 8 to 1 lead at the close of the first period. The O'Connells, leaders in the football league, had little difficulty winning from the Shannon Rovers, 18 to 4.

ENGLISH FUND TO MAKE 'PROS'?

Sullivan Says Case Would Be That of Professionalism and America Would Not Tolerate It.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Sept. 1.—The Paris correspondent of the Daily Mail sends an interview with James E. Sullivan, secretary of the National A. A. U., in which he says that if the British Olympic fund of $500,000 which several prominent men are trying to raise is intended to take men from employment and pay them to train it is flagrant professionalism which America would not tolerate and would promptly withdraw from the games.

CRICKET MATCH TO HYDE PARK.

South Siders Easily Defeat Lake Forest Team by Seventy-seven Runs—Harburg Scores 106 Times.

Hyde Park cricketers scored an easy victory over the Lake Forest team at Fifty-second street and Cottage Grove avenue yesterday, winning by a count of 159 to 82. E. G. Harburg led the attack for Hyde Park, scoring 106 runs. George Burton registered 18, and also took down seven wickets for 24 runs. For Lake Forest Southerton got 16 markers. A. Glover scored 13 times.

Lincoln Park Eight Which Races Milwaukee Oarsmen Today.

Coxswain, H. Wehrheim; Stroke, B. Johnson; No. 2, A. Johnson; No. 3, W. Hohenadel; No. 4, F. C. Woods; No. 5, F. Haines; No. 6, G. V. Gordon; No. 7, R. Green; No. 8, H. Binder.

The feature event of the Labor day regatta of the Lincoln Park Boat club will be the eight oared three-quarter mile race between the eights from Milwaukee Rowing club and the local organization. This event will be made from a point south of the jack knife bridge and the finish will be in front of the club house. In addition to the main event, three other contests will be held.

Amateur League Baseball Games.

COLUMBIAN KNIGHTS LEAGUE.

Van Buren Lodge practically cinched the pennant race in the Columbian Knights league yesterday when it defeated the Eugene Fields, 10 to 2, at Fourteenth street and Forty-eighth avenue. Griesbaum's home run with two on bases was a feature. Score:

NINES DRAW IN CUP SERIES; ROW BREAKS UP ONE CONTEST.

West Sides Battle Lombards to Tie in Sweitzer Game—Dispute Ends Weiderrichts-Bessingers' Fray.

Two tie games cropped up from the third round of play in the Sweitzer cup series yesterday. The West Sides and Lombards went ten innings to a 4 to 4 draw, the game being called on account of darkness. The Weiderrichts game with the Bessingers at Iowa street and Western avenue, broke up in the eighth inning with the score even, 4 to 4. The Wiederrichts were at bat when a liner along third base was called fair by Umpire Balla, causing the Bessingers to holf a massmeeting around the arbiter. The batter scored during the excitement. Balla decided to stop the game and leave it to the board of directors of the Amateur Managers' league to decide which team deserved the verdict. The Bessinger rooters refused to clear the field so that the game could be resumed. Another surprise of the day cropped up in the game at Logan Square, where the Ahlgren & Winkler team defeated the Mathiesen Colts, 5 to 2. The Mathiesens announced before the start that the game would not count in the Sweitzer cup series. Scores:

WILD HEAVE BEATS GUNTHERS

MEN WRANGLE WITH "UMP."

Dicke Chased After Trying to Strike Shore League Official.

Eddie Sullivan, usually one of the most reliable players on the Gunther team, had only one chance yesterday in the game with the Riverviews at Gunther park, but he utilized it to make a wild heave over Jimmy Hutton's head when the bases were full in the sixth inning, and the two runs which resulted won for the Riverviews, 4 to 2. The defeat pulls down Niesen's men to a lead of only three and one-half games in the Lake Shore league.

The game was marred by wrangling over Umpire Fyfe's decisions. Otto Dicke was sent to the clubhouse after an ineffectual attempt to hit Fyfe. Bradshaw's wildness caused Juul to supplant him after the game had been thrown away. Engelhardt and Krueger starred with great catches. Score:

LEWIS TAKES TRAP HONORS IN CONTEST AT KENSINGTON.

Leads Marksmen at Chicago Gun Club with Score of 144—Professional Tom Marshall Second Best.

Bart Lewis of Auburn, Ill., yesterday carried off the honors in the first day's shoot of the Labor day tourney of the Chicago Gun club. Shooting from the sixteen yard mark, Lewis broke 144 targets out of 150. Tom Marshall, the professional, was second high with a score of 143. Fred Bills, J. S. Day, H. Cadwallader, and J. R. Graham tied for third place with 142.

Fifty-five marksmen took part in the events. Scores were above the average. Weather conditions were ideal and a large crowd was on hand to watch the marksmen. Ten events of fifteen targets each will be held today, shooting to start promptly at 11 o'clock.

Following are the scores of yesterday's contests: Bart Lewis, 144; Tom Marshall, 143; Fred Bills, 142; J. S. Day, 142; H. Cadwallader, 142; J. R. Graham, 142; A. Vance, 141; H. Kirkwood, 141; L. M. Hawkeye Captain at Iowa.

Iowa City, Ia., Aug. 31.—[Special.]—Capt. Ralph McGinnis of the 1913 football team is in the city, and will join Coach Hawley in Chicago this week to discuss the coming season's work. McGinnis weighs twenty pounds more than last year. He reports two of the 1912 regulars ineligible because of "cons," but believes these will be removed.

TENARA FAVORITE FOR $10,000 TROT

Judson Girl Also Has Many Followers in Charter Oak Stake Race Today.

FREE FOR ALL ON CARD.

Earl Jr. and Braden Direct Are Choices in Second Feature at Hartford Course.

Hartford, Conn., Aug. 31.—Historic Charter Oak Park will once again be the stamping ground for the grand circuit horses, beginning tomorrow, and in view of the excellent condition of the track horsemen expect to see some records lowered. The rain of the last week, followed by the two days of fine weather, has been just what the track needed, and the rest enjoyed here, due to the failure to hold the Empire City meeting, has done much to restore the horses to the form that has been missing following the sickness that appeared at Kalamazoo.

Tomorrow is the big day of the meeting, the classic $10,000 Charter Oak stake and the free for all pace being the principal attractions. Tenara rules a slight favorite in the Charter Oak, with Judson Girl having a host of backers, while in the free for all race Earl Jr. and Braden Direct have the call.

There will be three races every day, including Friday. Tuesday's principal events are: The Nutmeg, 2:12 pace, purse $2,000, and the Juvenile, 2:30 trot for 2 year olds, purse $2,000. The Capital City, 2:08 trot, and the Acorn, 2:20 trot for 3 year olds, will be raced Wednesday, both purses being $3,000.

The 2:04 pace on Thursday with three starters has the smallest entry list of any race of the week, while the Elmwood, 2:12 trot, and the Corinthian, 2:20 trot, are the two big events of that afternoon, the purses for the latter two being $2,000 each. Three good races are booked for Friday, the closing day, two being for horses that have heretofore been performing on half mile tracks.

FIGURES ON "PINCH" HITTERS.

Box Scores Show Emergency Batters Made Good Nearly Half the Time Last Week.

The average worth of a pinch hitter as a factor in winning baseball games is so frequently discussed that a record of substitute batsmen's work last week has points of interest. The box scores show sixty stick wielders appeared in the lineups to bat for other players. Of these sixteen made good hits—thirteen with singles, two with doubles, and one with a home run. One got a sacrifice hit and eleven were passed.

Counting the passes as successes in the pinch hitting game, nearly half of the emergency men found reward for their trips to the plate, the figures showing twenty-eight who got on or advanced base runners as against thirty-two who, so far as the box scores reveal, went out.

At least one game—the Philadelphia-St. Louis National game on Tuesday—was won by pinch hitting talent exclusively. It was in the minors, however, that the pinch hitting feat of the week was performed, when Conroy of Rochester, going in to bat for a pitcher, made two singles in the same inning. The team batted around and Conroy made good the second time as well as the first.

ONE CLASH AT GUNTHER PARK.

President Klocksin of Lake Shore League Refuses to Allow Double-header with Kosciusko Team.

The announced double header, scheduled at Gunther park for this afternoon between the Kosciuskos of Milwaukee and the Gunthers, has been curtailed to one game. President Klocksin of the Lake Shore league refused to grant permission for a double bill, as no postponed games exist between the clubs. Herb Juul and Ervin Lange will pitch. Semi-pro games listed for this afternoon are as follows:

At Gunther park—Kosciuskos.
At American Giants park—St. Louis Giants.
At Fairview—Senecas.

Fairview, 4; Wilson A. C., 1.

Opportune hitting won for Fairview in the game against the Wilson A. C., 4 to 1. Tommy Kernaghan was bested in a pitching battle with Firalio. Score:

But the Competition for Victory Would Be Slight Without Profit.

ERROR BY BRETON BEATS CALS, 5 TO 4

Recruit Makes Heave After Playing Clever Game in Field and at Bat.

TIGERS POUND RUSSELL.

Bunching Six Hits in Two Rounds Aid in Defeat; Weaver Is Chased from Scrap.

Yesterday's Hero.

EDGAR WILLETT

Willett was conspicuous on the slab in pinches and drove in the run that beat the Sox with a clean triple.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

For quite a spell it looked as if Jack Breton was going to be a copper riveted "yesterday's hero" right in his own city in the final game of the year between the White Sox and Detroit on Comiskey park. Then Dame Fortune gave the budding idol a slap in the face which hurt by making him considerably responsible for the loss of the game which he would have won but for his own error. Final score, 5—4.

Breton partook of the only two Sox rallies which amounted to anything, ripping off a single and then a double. His two bagger in the fifth was a screaming factor in pushing the Callahans into the lead after they had trailed the Tigers most of the way. Between these two Sox rallies Breton smothered a Tiger attack, robbing the enemy of two runs and Ty Cobb of a clean hit by a sensational stop and throw.

It was too good to last, and in the next inning, while every one within sight of the game was lauding the young infielder to the zenith, he missed the easiest play he had all day, throwing the ball against the stand, and through that opening Detroit yanked its two runs in the sixth which won the scrap.

Weaver Ousted; Breton Enters.

Breton butted into the game because of a lightning bouncing act by Umpire Hildebrand, which eliminated Weaver from the infield in the first inning. Buck slid into second and was called out on a tight verdict. The umpire was on top of the play and probably knew whether Buck was out or not, so quickly resented the shortstop's sharp kick against the decision. Weaver was ordered out of the combat before he could even think of language enough to give cause for banishment. We never have condoned the offense of arguing or prolonged kicking over an umpire's ruling, but baseball would be something else again if a player were not allowed to bark a quick alibi at the umpire after a play that failed.

Manager Callahan tried to induce Hildebrand to reconsider, but the arbitrator was adamant and Weaver disappeared from the map at the beginning of the second session, making way for Breton. The Kansas City recruit, taking everything into consideration, showed himself a pretty promising player with only a brief experience in anything like high society on the diamond. His hits were not flukes but solid and he handled himself confidently at the plate.

Recruit Active on Bases.

Breton showed himself alive on the bases by sneaking from second to third on a wild pitch which Stanage blocked, so that there was not an instant to think before making the attempt. Berger, who was on first at the time, did not expect Breton to take the chance, so stuck to his own cushion. In fact, if Breton had not made the wild peg there would not have been a chance for Weaver to get back into the game in Chicago unless he broke one of the recruit's legs.

Tex Russell was clawed rather severely by the demon Tigers. On top of the severe lacing he received the last time out before yesterday, it is apparent Russell's salary wing is out of gear temporarily, for it lacks the cunning with which he has been baffling his opponents for weeks. The Tigers compiled eleven safeties, and made six in the fifth and sixth innings. Yet they would not have copped the victory without assistance. Russell's only base on balls was converted into a run by a steal and a timely single, and the sixth inning brace of tallies came after the side should have been retired.

The White Sox hammered Edgar Willett's delivery harder than they usually do, making a total of ten hits off him. It looked as if they were getting up steam for the road, as they hit like that more often in other cities than at home. Seven White Sox hits were massed in two innings, and would have done more execution if Ray Schalk's legs were a little longer. He was cut down at the plate trying to score on Breton's first hit in the second inning.

Willett Scores Winning Tally.

Willett contributed much to the Detroit victory besides his slabbing efforts, for he peeled off a three bagger which drove in the winning run in the unhappy sixth.

The Tigers were first to score. Veach worked Russell for a pass with one out in the second session and stole second. Tutweiler struck out, but Louden came along with a timely single to left, scoring Veach.

The Sox evened that run up in their half. Chase opened with a single. Bodie chopped a bunt in front of the plate. Stanage got hold of it, then did a comedy juggling act, which made even its author laugh at himself, and even gave Bodie time to reach first safely. Chappell missed two efforts to bunt, then popped out, but Schalk sent Chase home with a single to left. Russell's rap to Bush forced Bodie at third, then Breton came up and stung a liner safely to left. Veach made a swell pickup and throw home, beating Schalk by a couple of steps for the third out, incidentally cutting off a run that would have been exceedingly valuable.

In the third, with two gone, Baumann ripped a three bagger into right center. Crawford scored him with a single. Cobb soaked a sizzler toward right, but Chase stabbed it brilliantly. There was no chance to recover and fire the ball to first ahead of Tyrus, but Chase pegged to Breton, forcing Crawford at second.

"Sun Hit" Scores Bush.

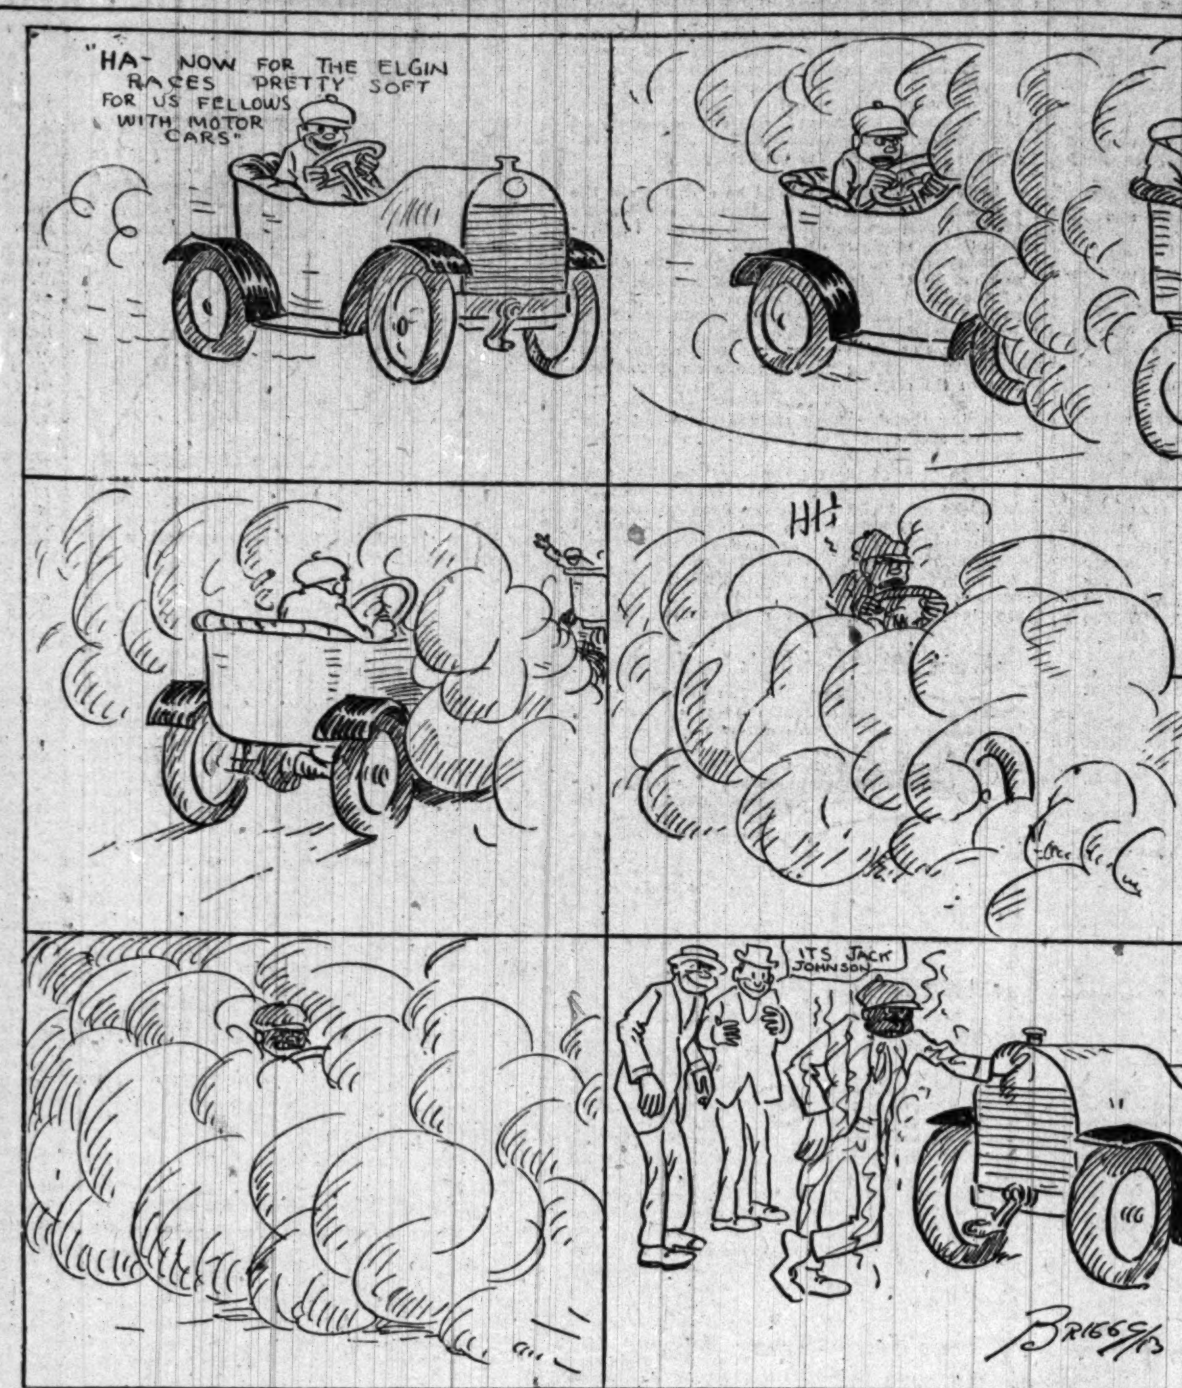

Two were out again in the fifth before the Tigers started anything. Bush singled and stole second. Baumann made a "sun hit," which got away from Collins, who tried to stab it with one fist. It scored Bush. Crawford's single drove Baumann to third and Sam made second himself on the throw back.

Cobb would have scored those two runners as sure as shooting, but for Breton, who went over toward second, scooped Cobb's hot roller with one hand, then changed the ball to his throwing hand and still beat the fleet Georgian to first by a clean step, retiring the side.

In the home fifth with one out Russell singled and scored on Breton's double to left center. Berger walked. A wild pitch let Breton to third and he scored on Lord's single. Collins hit a Texas leaguer into left, scoring Berger, but Chase and Bodie skied the side out, leaving the Sox one run to the good.

That lasted no time at all. Veach hit a bounder to Breton who took aim this time and threw to the stand, letting the runner to second. With Tutweiler up Schalk caught Veach off second but the runner broke for third and landed. Breton lost a chance to relay the ball by muffing it. Tutweiler scored the run with a single but was doubled up with Stanage. Louden then singled and Willett drove him home with what proved the winning run on a three bagger over Bodie's head. Bush whiffed.

SOX SYDELIGHTS.

Off for almost a month.

The Sox are booked for morning and afternoon games in Cleveland today, and a double header there tomorrow.

Manager Callahan took all his available men on the trip except Walsh, Sullivan, and Rousch. Walsh will remain here for another week's rest and join the Sox in Philadelphia next week.

No one but a left handed player could have performed the play Chase pulled on Cobb's hit in the third innings, and there aren't many left handed players who would have thought of it in time.

Detroit is getting square for some of the beatings the Sox gave it earlier in the season. The Tigers cannot even up the series with the Callahans, as it now stands twelve games to seven in Chicago's favor, with three to play in Detroit.

Moriarity was out of commission with a swollen foot, the result of hitting himself with a foul ball while at bat in Saturday's game. Louden didn't know much about fielding grounders at third base, but hit a couple, one of which broke up the game.

Seven Losses in Row Leave Team One Game from Eighth Place.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 31.—[illegible] is dropped to within one game of last [illegible] this afternoon when Cleveland won the final game and made it three in succession in the series. Balenti was the only local player to tally, while Chapman, Jackson and Lajoie each scored three runs for Cleveland.

Today's run was the first the Browns had scored in forty-three innings and the defeat marked the seventh successive loss. The locals fielded in ragged fashion, making six errors which show in the box score, and the errors of omission were as frequent as those of commission. Mitchell was hit hard, while Gregg pitched a steady game. Aside from the third inning the Browns did not have a chance. In this inning Balenti walked and scored on Alexander's drive to center for two bases.

During the series with the eastern teams just ended St. Louis won four games and lost twelve. President B. B. Johnson of the American league watched the game. Score:

MANAGER DOOIN MAY PROTEST CUBS' VICTORIES ON AUG. 16.

Also Will Seek Ruling on Pirate Games if Forfeit to Giants Is Upheld by Lynch.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 31.—[Special.]—The Phillies may ask that the double headers played at National league park on Aug. 16 and 23 be thrown out of the league records. Manager Dooin tonight declared a protest would be filed against the victories gained by Chicago and Pittsburgh on those dates unless President Lynch erased the 9—0 forfeiture which Umpire Brennan gave New York here on Saturday.

Brennan's action in the game with the Giants was based on the fact that fans were dancing and waving papers in a section roped off in the bleachers on a direct line from the plate. Those seats had been roped off, but spectators crawled over the ropes and took the seats. The Philadelphia management and the police refused to force the fans to vacate, declaring it was not within their rights.

Dooin declared in the games with the Cubs the crowd had filled practically every seat in the roped off section, and the Phillies lost both. In the game with Pittsburgh, he says, the bleacherites crowded into the forbidden section. Again the Quakers lost two.

"What's fair for one team is fair for another," Dooin asserted.

"If Umpire Brennan thought Saturday's game was interfered with or his umpiring was not up to the mark, because the fans were in the center field seats, why didn't he think the same thing when we lost two games to the Pirates with him umpiring? Why didn't Umpire O'Day discover it the day we dropped a pair to the Cubs?"

Dooin will not be manager of the Phillies next season, according to a rumor here. The rumor will not down, and the management refuses to discuss the matter. It is known that the club officials have been looking around for some weeks for a successor to Dooin, whose contract expires with the end of the present season. The choice appears to have narrowed to two persons, "Hank" O'Day, the umpire, and Otto Knabe, the Phillies' second baseman. Friends of Dooin declare that neither of these men compare with Dooin as a manager.

Promoters Offer Navin of Detroit $70,000 for International League Team—Want Home Control.

Providence, R. I., Aug. 31.—It became definitely known today that a group of Providence promoters has extended to President Navin of the Detroit Americans an offer of $70,000 for the Providence International league baseball club. If the offer is accepted an attempt will be made to dispose of the stock among local sporting men. Failing such a market, it is understood arrangements have been made with a National league club to take over a controlling interest.

AN ADVANTAGE.

Some babies are born to a bunch of dough,
And some are the heirs of kings,
While others win fame at a baby show
For beauty and other things;
There are kids residing in mansions grand,
Surrounded by luxuries.
Of course, you distinctly understand
That you are not one of these.

A millionaire is one thing you're not,
And, unlike a few small boys,
A prince's title you haven't got,
Nor a houseful of costly toys,
But you'll get along, my dear young brat,
Much better than lots of guys,
Or else there's no truth in the saying that
It pays to advertise.

SAM WELLERISMS.

The Cubs departed last night for St. Louis, where four games are to be played in two days.

Pitcher McArthur, purchased by Pittsburgh from the Hopkinsville club of the K. I. T. league, reported to Manager Clarke yesterday.

Following the Lansing jubilee, the Cubs will exhibit in Grand Rapids on Thursday and return here to resume big league warfare on Friday. Joe Tinker's Reds will be the next attraction on the west side.

Charles Watson, the husky pitcher from Fond du Lac, joined the Cubs yesterday and displayed some swell curves and speed in the practice before the game. Evers intends to give him an early trial on the slab.

It looked as if the Pirates would score on Humphries in the ninth. Carey and Viox opened with singles, but Bert's mates came to his rescue with a sparkling double play, turned by Bridwell, Evers, and Saier. The rest was easy.

After tomorrow's double header in St. Louis, the Cubs will journey to Lansing, Mich., where "Saier day" will be observed on Wednesday. Lansing is Vic's home town, and the folks want to show him they appreciate the fame he is gaining as a big leaguer.

Considering the fact the Cubs had just returned from a successful trip through the east, winning eleven and losing seven games, there was a rather small crowd out to welcome them home. Not more than 8,000 fans were present. Threatening weather early in the afternoon undoubtedly kept many away.

The fans on the west side are beginning to realize that Vic Saier has become one of the stars of the National league, and now Vic seldom goes to bat without getting a round of applause. So far this year he has made ten home runs and sixteen triples, besides numerous doubles and singles. He also has developed into a great base runner.

NAVIN SPOILS TY COBB STORY.

President of Tigers Denies the Star Outfielder Has Been Sold to Yankees for Large Sum.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 31.—[Special.]—"About once each year the newspapers of the country dispose of Ty Cobb, but in spite of their best efforts the center fielder is going to stay right here in Detroit."

That's what President Frank Navin of the Detroit Tigers said when asked about the New York story that Cobb was to become a member of the New York Highlanders next season, bought for $40,000.

"Cobb has not been sold, nor have we the slightest intention of disposing of him," continued Mr. Navin. "As for a stockholder tipping it off in New York, I wish to say that all the stockholders of the club are now in Detroit except one, who owns a small block of stock, and he will not sell Cobb on the strength of his holdings."

HUMPHRIES STAR ON SLAB

Yesterday's Hero.

BERT HUMPHRIES

BY SAM WELLER.

If Pittsburgh's Pirates had hopes yesterday of ousting the Cubs from third place in the tumultuous National league pennant race, they should be pitied rather than scorned. The Cubs turned on them with admirable fury and won the game, 10 to 0, which was a most impressive victory on their return home from a successful tour through the east.

The Pirates made only feeble attempts to score, while the Cubs played in rampant style and whaled the ball to distant spots in the grounds. Two Pittsburgh pitchers were battered freely, while the rugged Bert Humphries hurled with a careless abandon for the home team and limited the old time sluggers to four hits, one of which was a fluke.

This young Humphries may have had luck in some of his victories this season, but he didn't need luck yesterday. He had everything else and the Pirates were baffled all the way. For seven rounds they made only one hit off his deceiving side arm curves and that was when John Miller pulled one inside of third for a double. The next safe blow came in the eighth on a bounder over second base. In the ninth, two fellows hit safely, one being awarded a single on a nasty bounder that escaped the claws of Heine Zim.

Two Pirates Reach Third.

Only two Pirates got as far as third base and they didn't even cause a scare, for in both instances the Cubs were far ahead. The second man to reach third got there in the ninth and at that time the Cubs had their ten runs all tabbed, so no attention was paid to the lonesome guy on third.

Along with his sweeping side arm curve and hopping fast one, Humphries had splendid control. Only two fellows walked. The young hurler might not have registered such a stunning victory if his mates hadn't given him support that sparkled with brilliancy at times and was always steady.

Tommy Leach made one catch that robbed our old friend, Mike Mitchell, of a probable three base hit when in the eighth Tommy went across the green on the gallop and pulled down a terrific line drive that had started for the fence. Frank Schulte backed up against the wall once and plucked a long drive by Chief Wilson and Al Bridwell and Johnny Evers turned several classy plays on the infield.

Saier Poles Home Run.

Aside from the hurling of Bert Humphries, the impressive feature was a home run against the right field sign board by Young Vic Saier, who of late has formed a habit of clouting homers. Saier's drive came in the third inning when one fellow was on the runway and the Cubs had only a two run lead. That clout made a four run lead and practically clinched the victory beyond a doubt.

The famed Marty O'Toole was the pitcher chosen by Fred Clarke to oppose Young Humphries. Marty was supposed to have fully recovered from his operation for appendicitis and be ready to pitch just as a $22,500 hurler should pitch. After watching him in three innings of distress one is led to believe he hasn't fully recovered. He was awful wild at the start, walking four batsmen in the first inning. When he finally did get one over, Ward Miller smashed it to center field and there would have been more than two runs counted in that opening round if Mike Mitchell hadn't pegged one fellow out at the plate.

Marty stuck to the job until the end of the third, but Saier's four base drive in that inning really finished him for the day. At the start of the fourth the tall Mr. Cooper, a southpaw who is a first year big leaguer, appeared on the slap and stayed to the finish although he was mauled terribly in the sixth when the Cubs drove home five runs, being assisted considerably by blunders on the part of the visitors.

O'Toole Walks First Two Men.

After Humphries had set down three Pirates in a row in the first inning, Marty O'Toole walked Leach and Evers. Schulte might have done likewise but he bunted instead, moving the other two fellows up a peg. Heine Zim then walked and so did Saier, the latter pass forcing Leach to score. O'Toole then suddenly got control, at least he laid one over for Ward Miller and Ward slashed it fiercely to center field for a single. Evers trotted home and Heine Zim tried to, but Mitchell pegged to Simon in time to nail the great Zim easily. Saier made third on the play, then he and Miller attempted a double steal, but Vic was nipped at the plate.

Cubs Go on Rampage.

Big Lefty Cooper held the Cubs in the fourth and fifth, but he lost control of the ball in the sixth and walked Saier and W. Miller. Bridwell bunted and was safe at first when Cooper's wild throw pulled J. Miller off the bag. With the bases filled and none out, Archer bounced one over the pitcher's head, and although Viox made a gallant stop, he was out of position to make a play. Saier scored. Humphries relieved the strain on Cooper by fanning, but Tommy Leach lined a single over Wagner's dome, sending W. Miller and Bridwell home, while Archer legged it to third and Tommy raced to second, when Carey messed the ball slightly in left field.

Evers followed with a line single over second, scoring Archer and Leach stopped at third when he saw Mitchell get the ball on the first bound. Mike heaved toward the home plate and missed it by about thirty feet, so far that Simon couldn't head off the ball. Leach scooted on home and Evers sprinted all the way to third. Schulte then lifted a short fly to Mitchell, and Evers got home after the catch, but left third base too soon and when the ball was returned to that corner he was called out, ending the stampede.

The other run came in the eighth when with one out Archer doubled to left, moved to third as Humphries grounded out, and came home when Leach singled.

Worst "Bonehead" Play I Ever Saw.

Chicago.—[To the Baseball Editor of The Tribune.]—The worst bonehead play I ever saw was in a game played at Jackson park between two church teams. The team at bat was badly in need of runs. In this particular inning they started out well, getting three men on bases with only one down. The next batter hit to the pitcher, who fumbled the ball. The man on third had plenty of time to score; the batter also having plenty of time to reach first. The bonehead on third, instead of tearing for the plate, ran about ten feet and stopped. His thoughts probably were that he was going to maneuver between third and home and give the other men on base time to advance. The pitcher, who was not quite as much of a boob, after fumbling the ball for a moment, picked it up and shot it home, forcing the man at the plate. This happened about a month ago, and ever since the base runner has been known as Merkle.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 31.—Cincinnati won both games of a double header today from St. Louis, the first by 10 to 5 and the second 8 to 2. The locals had no trouble winning either contest.

In the first game Harmon was hit hard and often, while Johnson had his opponents at his mercy. Johnson let up in the eighth inning, when St. Louis was able to score five runs. Griner started the second game for St. Louis, but lasted only through part of the second inning. Trekell, who succeeded him, pitched good ball and was taken out in the eighth inning to allow Roberts to bat for him. Suggs for Cincinnati kept the hits scattered. In the second Dodge stole home while Trekell was winding up to pitch.

Three umpires participated in the two games, Byron and Quigley officiating in the first and Rigler and Quigley in the second. Scores:

GEORGE STOVALL TO LOSE JOB?

Report Says Browns' Manager Will Be Succeeded by Branch Rickey—Ban Johnson Behind Move?

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 31.—[Special.]—That Branch Rickey, scout and legal adviser of the Browns, will succeed George Stovall as manager on Sept. 8, when the club leaves on its last eastern trip, was authoritatively reported today. Although the local management would not confirm the report, it is generally understood the change will be made. President Johnson of the American league reached here early yesterday morning and was closeted with President Hedges of the Browns the greater part of the day. Johnson is said to have been opposed to Stovall since the umpire spitting episode.

FEDS GRAB BACON BY UPHILL BATTLE

Come from Behind, Win 4 to 3, After Giving Packers Three in First.

TWO HOMERS BY LOCALS.

BY HANDY ANDY.

After handing the Packers a three run lead in the first inning, Chicago's Federals kept pecking away at the Kansas City hurlers yesterday and finally managed to win, 4 to 3.

Manager Keeley essayed the slab task for the Browns and was given a rather unpleasant reception. A walk, a hit batsman, a single, a double and an error by Farrell gave the visitors their trio of tallies. Thereafter Keeley held the Packers to four hits, and some brilliant support helped check the Missourians.

The Feds counted once in the second round, then in the fourth Kading and Pettigrew connected for homers, evening the score. The winning run came in the eighth. Dundon and Farrell walked, then Kading's third safety sent Dundon across with the big counter.

St. Louis will furnish the opposition today in a double header at De Paul field. The first game will start at 1:30 o'clock. Score:

VERDICT TO AMERICAN GIANTS.

Hill's Five Hits Big Factors in Foster's Victory Over St. Louis Giants—Score, 10-6.

Pete Hill, with five hits in as many times at bat, was the leading factor in the American Giants' victory over the St. Louis Giants at American Giants' park yesterday, 10 to 6. "Rube" Foster was on the slab for the American Giants. While hit hard in spots, he pitched a good game.

The visitors were first to score, gathering one run in the second inning. They added two more in the fourth when Hannan hit a homer. The Americans went ahead in their half of the fourth, scoring four runs. The game was marked by sensational fielding, Bennet and Moore of the visitors making great catches. Score:

Dinner Dances Still Lake Forest Diversion.

THE chief diversion in Lake Forest for this summer has been the dinner dance. Many of these entertainments have been given, although the summer has been an unusually hot one. That their popularity will continue through the fall is evidenced by the fact that invitations for more of these events have been issued. Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Johnston McBirney have just issued cards for a dinner dance to be given at their Lake Forest residence on Friday, Sept. 12.

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Kreis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Kreis of Wheaton, to Arnold Spencer Wahl, son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Wahl of 830 Sheridan road, Evanston, will take place today. Miss Margery McLean of Wheaton will be maid of honor; Miss Jessie Sumner, Madison, Wis., and Miss Catherine Jenkins, Rogers Park, will be bridesmaids. Richard Wahl, brother, is to be best man, and John Stevenson of Chicago and Henry Priester of Davenport, Ia., will be ushers. The ribbon stretchers are to be Julia and Celia Kreis, Eleanor Wahl and Georgiana Kimberly. Little Dorothy Roehm is to be flower girl. Dr. William Evans of the Moody Bible institute is to officiate. A special train for the guests will leave Chicago by the Northwestern at 7:15 p. m., returning at 11 p. m. The couple will leave immediately for Manchester, England, where Mr. Wahl will be engaged in business for the next year.

One of the early fall weddings will be that of Miss Viola Manville, daughter of Mrs. Lotan Smith Manville of West Chicago, to Clarence Negley Warren of Indianapolis, which will be solemnized on Saturday at 4 o'clock, at the West Chicago club at Powers Lake, Wis., where the Manvilles have their summer home. Miss Myrtle Reber of Wheaton will be maid of honor and Earl L. Manville, brother of the bride, will be best man. The honeymoon will be spent in the east and Canada. Mr. and Mrs. Warren will be at home after Nov. 1 at the Evelyn apartments, West Thirteenth street, Indianapolis, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Jonas of Sinton, Tex., recently of Chicago, announce the marriage of their daughter Doris to Samuel Harry Rosenberg of Chicago on Sunday at Beachwoods, Union Pier, Mich. Mr. and Mrs. Rosenberg are traveling in Colorado and will be at home after the first of October at 5944 South Park avenue.

The marriage of Miss Gertrude Kinney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Denton Kinney of 3252 Franklin boulevard, and the Rev. Robert N. McDonald took place on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. A. Ellis of the Lombard Congregational church. Miss Iva Mary Kinney, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor and the Rev. Harry Lee served as best man. The Rev. and Mrs. McDonald will be at home after Oct. 15 at Lake Geneva, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Hill announce the marriage of their daughter Betty to Clyde A. Taylor on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor will be at home after Oct. 1 at 9939 South Irving avenue.

Mrs. Ida Berman of 5328 Indiana avenue announces the engagement of her daughter, Anna Gertrude, to Louis Lee Litt, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Curtain Litt of 5636 South Park avenue. At home announced later.

Mrs. Charles H. ReQua and Miss Catharine ReQua have gone to the White mountains after having attended the tennis meet at Newport.

Mrs. Theodore Thomas, who still is at her summer home, Felsengarten, on Strawberry hill, Bethlehem, N. H., on Friday last invited a few of the women of the locality in to visit her garden and hear a reading of an original prose piece, "The Taming of the Tiger," which she has just completed. The "taming" relates her experience in conquering her motor car. On Saturday Mrs. Thomas gave a large garden party, at which she read a paper on scientific forestry as practiced in Germany. George Glessner of this city was another of the speakers. A kaffeeklatsch followed the talks.

Mrs. Robert F. Cummings of 5135 Madison avenue has gone to New York to visit her daughter, Mrs. Ralph C. Stevens of Glen Ridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Strobel left on Saturday for Hot Springs, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Watt and family of Wilmette and Mrs. O. B. Barker and family of Oak Park, after visiting in Michigan, are going to spend the rest of the summer at their mother's summer home at Lake Geneva.

There will be a meeting of the board of directors of the Martha Washington club, preceded by a covered dish party, at the home of Mrs. T. J. Jackson, 4229 Indiana avenue, tomorrow.

Mrs. Robert G. Smith and Miss Emma G. Smith of Hyde Park boulevard have returned to the city after a two months' trip through the Canadian Rockies, Alaska, and Glacier National park.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodor W. Buhmann and Miss Marie Buhmann of 2734 Pine Grove avenue, who have spent the summer at Mackinac, have returned to the city preparatory to the arrival of Gilbert Buhmann, the son of the family, from his western ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wolf and daughter, Beatrice, returned home on Wednesday, after a four months' motor trip on the continent.

Salesmen to Play Ball for Needy.

The sixth annual traveling men's charity baseball game will be held on Saturday at Comiskey's White Sox park, West Thirty-fifth street and Shields avenue. The entire proceeds from tickets, advertisements in the program and score card, and donated refreshments will be turned over to the various charitable institutions of the city. THE TRIBUNE free ice and hospital fund in past years has received a share of the proceeds.

MISS RUTH TERRILL.

Miss Ruth Terrill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald S. Terrill of Oak Park, will become the bride of Charles Carlisle Giddings Wednesday evening, Oct. 1, at 8:30 o'clock, the ceremony to be performed in Grace Episcopal church, Oak Park. The wedding is to be one of the most elaborate of the suburban services of the autumn.

Woman's Party Issues Neutrality Declaration.

IN answer to the declared adherence to the Progressive party, announced on Saturday by Mrs. Antoinette Funk and Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout, and the approval of the Progressive platform by Mrs. Sherman Booth, the Woman's party of Cook county, through its president, Mrs. Charlotte Rhodus, yesterday asserted principles of strict neutrality toward all political parties.

Mrs. Rhodus gave a copy out for publication, which says:

Women secured the ballot not only because it was right, but because it is hoped that women voters might correct evils of government, and that crooked politics might therefore become a thing of the past.

The Woman's party of Cook county believes that this failure of the political parties to do the will of the people has come largely from lack of independent, intelligent voters, and that the women of Cook county should therefore not tie themselves to any regular political party, and not allow any set of party bosses to do their thinking for them, but highly resolve to hold themselves to stand for those candidates of any party and those measures which are the best. Those women who have already allied themselves with some regular political party may join the Woman's party of Cook county and thereafter act as independent voters.

The Woman's party of Cook county stands for everything that is good, and its members will use their influence and votes against everything that is bad, regardless of party.

With this high ideal, the Woman's party of Cook county expects to justify its existence and gradually draw the intelligent, high minded women voters of Cook county into its membership.

The first of the series of noonday meetings of the Progressive Woman's league will be held on Wednesday at 19 West Jackson boulevard. The object will be to teach loop district workers the principles of the Progressive party and give instructions in voting and municipal affairs. Mrs. Funk will be the first speaker. Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank is in charge.

A meeting of the Third ward section of the Woman's party of Cook county will be held this evening at 1214 East Forty-seventh street.

The regular meeting of the Second and Third Ward Ladies' Political club will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in Fuller park.

News of the Theaters.

Douglas Fairbanks' next appearance will be in a new comedy by Porter Emerson Browne entitled "Something for Nothing."

Miss Adele Rowland will join the La Salle company in a week or so, to succeed Miss Ada Meade in the rôle of Bossy in "A Trip to Washington."

A stroll among the loop theaters last evening showed the "all seats sold" sign to be visible in front of the La Salle, the Grand, the Olympic, the Auditorium, the Columbia, the Palace, the Majestic, the Great Northern, the Colonial, and McVicker's.

A telegram from Sheboygan, Wis., states that Fiske O'Hara presented "In Old Dublin" there last night for the first time, and that the play pleased a large audience. It is about an international yacht race in which the Irish boat wins the royal trophy after many mishaps. Augustus Pitou is the author and Augustus Pitou Jr., the producer and manager.

A. H. Woods' immediate activities include the production in Chicago of a French farce called "Taxi 41144," with Bernard Granville in the leading rôle; a French musical play, "The Girl From the Provinces"; a German farce called "The Wives of Herod"; a comedy, "The Ladies' Tailor," and a musical piece by Rennold Wolf and Channing Pollock named "The Grass Widow."

Lord Haldane in Canada; Talks to Lawyers Today.

MONTREAL, Aug. 31.—Jurists of Canada and the United States joined today in extending a warm greeting to Viscount Haldane, lord high chancellor of Great Britain, who reached here this morning to address the American Bar association convention, which opens tomorrow. Lord Haldane's address will be delivered in the Princess theater in the afternoon. His entire journey of 6,000 miles from England and return was undertaken principally for this purpose.

Incidents of his visit will be a call from the lieutenant governor of the province, Sir Francis Langier, and an audience with Robert L. Borden, prime minister of Canada.

Today one of the first to greet the distinguished British jurist was Chief Justice White of the United States Supreme court. Accompanied by Frank S. Kellogg, president of the American Bar association, Lord Haldane and Chief Justice White, each the head of the judicial system of his nation, made an automobile tour of the city.

"Ours is a wonderful country," he said, "and I look for you to keep up the greatness of the Anglo-Saxon traditions in the days to come. I am not unfamiliar with the dominion, but I may say that I have gathered a 'first impression' and that is the wonderful strides of education both in Canada and the United States. I came over on the steamer in company with prominent educationalists of both countries."

Want More Hospitals for Insane.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 31.—The state charities commission in its annual report for the year 1912, issued today, devotes much space urging radical reforms in the system of treating mental and nervous diseases.

The commission recommends the establishment in all large centers of population of psychopathic hospitals for the care and treatment of the acute insanities where the commitment shall be purely voluntary.

It favors the present state hospitals being made colonies for the strictly chronic class. By this plan the commission says the man in the first stages will seek hospital care, and a larger number will be cured or prevented from deteriorating into incurables.

The commission says that the psychopathic hospitals should be equipped to look after the patient after he has gone out a convalescent.

The first hospital of this character should be erected in Cook county. In this recommendation the commission follows those made repeatedly in recent years by it and its predecessors, the state board of charities.

The commission also recommends that the study of psychiatry be made compulsory in all our medical schools, so that every man or woman who enters the practice of medicine may be educated in the elementaries of nervous and mental affections.

A children's bureau or department of state, with broad power to deal with the dependent and delinquent classes, is recommended by the commission.

Scots Honor Memory of Burns.

Tribute was paid to the memory of Robert Burns yesterday by the United Scottish Societies of Illinois. The exercises in Garfield park were attended by 1,000 Scots, who paid tribute to the poet, patriot, and plowman of Scotland.

Bagpipes furnished the music for the march to the park, which was led by Dugald Leitch and John Napier of Clan Campbell No. 28 of the Order of Scottish Clans.

Dr. W. A. Barclay made the principal address of the celebration. E. J. Robertson, one of the town councilors of Edinburgh, made a plea for home rule in Scotland, declaring that under English control the whistle of the plowman was being supplanted by droves of sheep and herds of deer.

Origin of "Coats of Arms."

The words themselves are significant of the derivation. In early times, when war was the chief practice and pursuit of men, there was a privileged class which alone was entitled to wear coat armor. Those who wore such coats of mail, in order to distinguish themselves from other warriors in the field, were accustomed to emblazon some device upon their arms—upon their shield or helmet, for instance—and by these devices they were known in the thick press of battle, as well as by the war cry which from time to time rallied the scattered warriors and urged them headlong into the fight. Soldiers were not banded into regiments, as now, but followed the banner of their respective chiefs, and the banner, like the shield, bore the device of the house. The emblazonment of the coat of arms thus became the symbol of the leading warrior families, each of which selected its own device.

Fighting Cost of Living.

"The Tribune" wishes to publish direct personal experiences of those who have successfully solved the problem of living within their income.

Your name will not be published if you do not wish it.

For every suggestion published $1 will be paid.

Address High Cost of Living Department, "Tribune," Chicago.

An Example in Interest.

We plan our expenses according to our income, making allowance for savings for old age. My salary is $1,200. Our rent is $192. We allow ourselves (four in the family) $12 a week for living, which amounts to $624 a year. From $1,200 take the sums of $192 and $624 and we have $384 left to save. This we place on interest at 6 per cent. Outside of this we have what I call an automatic saving machine. We have $3,000 that is earning $175 a year. This interest we use to pay premiums on $2,500 of twenty year endowment insurance and accumulative bonds maturing in fifteen years. When the fifteen years are up this machine will turn out a round sum of $7,000, which added to $9,474 will leave us over $16,000. The interest on this at 6 per cent will give an annual income of $960. You notice I base my calculations on fifteen years. This is because that is about the time our children may want to go to college and the time when we will want to take life easier.

How do we live on $12 a week? We don't overeat, as most people do. We cook the food well and cook no more than will likely be eaten at each meal unless it can be saved for the next meal. We buy sparingly of expensive foods and sparingly of cheap clothing and the like. We pay as we go. We don't blow ourselves on pay day and we don't starve the day before. We don't urge our children to eat. Nature tells us when to eat. We have plenty and we have no doctor bills. We plan our expenses according to our allowances.

G. E. GUSTAFSON.

"Earn a Little and Spend Less."

If people would follow the advice "Earn a little and spend less" there would not be so much discussion over the high cost of living. The expenses must be adjusted to the income, no matter how small it may be, always striving to lay something aside for a rainy day. Before my marriage I was employed in a business office for a number of years, and just as I wished then to help my employer get ahead in his business so now in my household management it is my aim to get the most possible for my family of five in the way of food, clothing, and everything that goes to make up a home in the truest sense of the word out of the least outlay. A woman who earnestly desires to be a good financial manager in the home will find by experience and study what foods give the greatest value for the least expenditure, how to dress well at small cost, etc. We must live simply. It does not take costly things to bring health and happiness. My husband has never earned over $1,000 a year, and we have three children. We own our own home, have a large garden—which means a whole lot to us—live comfortably, and save money every year.

MRS. D. S. HORNER, Kewanee, Ill.

Increase Your Income.

My advice is increase your income. That is a much better way to fight the cost of living than to keep expenses down. I am an "immigrant," having been in this country about two years, and although I am a woman I am earning now about $30 a week. Of course I have to work evenings, but I prefer to do so and have plenty of money to spend than to work eight hours on a small salary.

A small ad in THE TRIBUNE brought me all the work I wanted—indeed, more than I wanted. I save money, but never over $5 a week. I am afraid of getting stingy if I save more. Then I pay on a ten years' endowment policy about $160 a year, but still I have "a whole lot" of money left. With that "whole lot" I have the greatest pleasure that life can give in helping people who are poorer than I am. I have a little girl at home in my own country whose tuition I am paying in college, and two poor old women who have no one else to take care of them. The days when I receive their thank letters are "days of real sport" to me. Believe me, I am fully repaid for my outlay.

I want to do now on a small scale what I would do if I were rich.

PARDON FOR MRS. PANKHURST RESTS ON PROMISE 'TO BEHAVE'

British Home Secretary Refuses to Advise King's Leniency Until Militant Capitulates to Government.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Aug. 31.—Reginald McKenna, the home secretary, replying to an appeal from some clergymen that a pardon be granted to Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, who is out on license and is now at Deauville, France, says that nothing was done under the provisions of the "cat and mouse" law which could have injured her health.

The home secretary says that when the militant leader was last in prison she refused to allow herself to be examined, but so far as the doctor at Holloway jail was able to judge, her health had not been seriously injured and if it had been affected injuriously it was due solely to her voluntary action in refusing to take food and not to any act of administration of food [pump feeding], which was used only to prevent suicide.

Mr. McKenna says that until Mrs. Pankhurst gives an understanding to abstain from committing crime or inciting crime it will be impossible for him to advise the king that a pardon be issued to her.

BABY PLUNGES FROM PORCH.

Year Old Infant Climbs to Rail and Falls to Yard—Skull Is Fractured—Dies.

One year old George Kelly was left under the care of his "granny," Mrs. Mary Matthews, at 3114 Mossprat street, while his parents went to church yesterday. Grandmother and baby were on the rear porch of the second story when the baby climbed on the railing and fell over, landing in the back yard. The child incurred a fracture of his skull and was taken to St. Luke's hospital, where he died.

WOMEN SELL 10,000 KISSES TO HELP FUND FOR HOSPITAL.

At a Dollar a Kiss Spinsters of Salem, O., Raise Goodly Sum—Men Pay Gladly.

Salem, O., Aug. 31.—[Special.]—Twenty thousand masculine lips pressed those of six fair members of well to do and locally prominent families in a unique scheme last night whereby $10,000 was raised toward a fund to endow Salem hospital through the dispensing of women's kisses at $1 each. Men, young and old, stood in line to enjoy the osculatory performance.

All the women were single. One married woman, seeking to do her part, compromised by shaking hands with all comers at 25 cents a shake. One of the victims, her husband, she charged $2 for the privilege of publicly closing his fingers over hers.

GIRL SWIMMER SETS RECORD; DOES TEN MILES IN 4 1-2 HOURS.

Martha Kasjens Swims Between Peoria and Pekin—Braves Squall and Rests Once Alongside Boat.

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 31.—[Special.]—Martha Kasjens, 18 year old daughter of J. G. Kasjens, president of a local manufacturing company, established a new amateur record between Peoria and Pekin today, by swimming the distance of ten miles in four hours and thirty-four minutes.

A rough head wind delayed her speed in two different portions of the distance, while for a few minutes at one time she swam through a squall of wind and rain.

During the long swim she did not leave the water, rested but once for five minutes alongside an accompanying skiff, and was fed on two occasions with milk and beef tablets.

Conference Breaks All Former Records.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

WINONA LAKE, Wis., Aug. 31.—[Special.]—The Winona Bible conference adjourned this evening with a total attendance that broke all previous records. No tickets were issued today for the first time this year, so that an accurate record of attendance could not be obtained, but all of the services throughout the day were crowded to the limit, 5,000 being packed into the main auditorium at each of the principal services addressed by Bishop E. H. Hughes and the evangelists "Billy" Sunday and Gipsy Smith.

The Rev. Dr. S. C. Dickey, the director of the conference, announced that the Rev. Dr. F. B. Meyer of London, Eng., had been definitely engaged for the conference next year and that tentati evarrangements had been made with the Rev. Dr. J. H. Jowett, pastor of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church of New York.

Dr. Dickey also announced that a company of speakers including Dr. Campbell Morgan and probably Gipsy Smith would tour fifteen cities of the United States, chiefly in the west and south, beginning next January. Dr. Dickey will accompn Dr. Morgan to England at the close of Dr. Morgan's engagement in Chicago for the purpose of securing the assistance of English ministers and evangelists to join in the winter campaign in this country and for the Bible conference next summer.

A summary of the action taken by the Interdenominational Association of Evangelists, which met in connection with the Bible conference in the auditorium of Westminster chapel, was given b ythe president, the Rev. H. C. Hart of Madison, Wis.

Chicago was made official headquarters, and the 275 evangelists in the association are to be addressed at 602 Lakeside building, no matter where they may be living.

A committee was appointed to consider the advisability of employing a paid general secretary.

An editor was authorized for the publishing of articles bearing on the subject of evangelism.

A building containing an auditorium, committee rooms, and other conveniences wholly for evangelists was ordered to be built at Winona in time for the next Bible conference.

A committee to censure nude pictures and operate with reform and federal authorities.

Resolutions were adopted calling for a higher type of evangelism.

"Don't let any theological beliefs keep you from thinking that this is the best age the world has ever seen," said Bishop Hughes in his sermon. "There is more mercy, more love, more truth in the world than on any other day since the dawn.

"The book that has had the largest sale of any except the Bible is Thomas à Kempis' "Imitation of Christ." This wide acceptance of a book coming to us from the middle ages shows that the theme that never wears out centers in Jesus Christ." Bishop Hughes' sermon was on the theme "Christ Is All and in All."

"The Second Coming of Christ" was the subject of the sermon by Evangelist Sunday. The reasons he gave as signs of the near approach of the second coming of Christ were:

"The radical tendency to depart from the Christian faith.

"The gospel has now been preached to all nations.

"There is a world wide expectation that Christ is to come again.

"The return of the Jews to Jerusalem.

"The concentration of the world in the hands of a few men, twelve men in the United States being able to control the financial destiny of this country."

Skinnay! Yoo Hoo! School Tomorrow!

Today is the last day of the summer vacation for "Skin-nay" and all his 400,000 schoolmates in Chicago schools. Tomorrow the city's 500 schools will be opened and the first lesson of the school year will be assigned.

In the morning after all instructions are given the pupils they will be dismissed for the day to buy books, pencils, tablets, and ink. They also will be given instruction to present certificates regarding their health. A corps of 103 nurses and physicians will examine the pupils for contagious diseases.

Synagogue to Be Dedicated on Sept. 28.

The new synagogue of the Congregation Anshe Kanasses Israel will be dedicated on Sept. 28, and the first services will be held on Oct. 2, in celebration of the Jewish New Year.

The synagogue is located on Douglas boulevard, near Kedzie avenue, and was built at a cost of $250,000. The dedication services will be conducted by the Rev. Kalman Kleinowitz, Cantor Americus. The Rev. Kleinowitz dedicated the old synagogue at Judd avenue and Clinton street twenty-five years ago.

Although the interior of the building will not be completed before the holiday season, an elaborate program has been arranged for the dedication. The congregation is composed of almost 300 members. The building now used by the congregation is one of the oldest synagogues in Chicago.

The erection of the new synagogue on Douglas boulevard near Kedzie marks the shifting of the Ghetto farther west. The president of the synagogue is H. M. Barnett. He and Rabbi Ephraim Epstein will make addresses at the dedication exercises.

Says Church Depends on Children.

Archbishop John Benzano, papal delegate to the United States, sees the future work of the church in the care of the children. The morality of the future depends on the rearing of the children today, Archbishop Benzano told the boys and girls of St. Hedwig's Polish Industrial and Training school at Niles, and St. Mary's School for Boys and Girls at Desplaines.

"From one child well brought up," Archbishop Benzano said, "a whole generation of Christians can proceed. Today he receives it and in fifteen years he will give it. When faith and morality are weakened they may be restored through the children. Take care of the children is the great work which occupies the church."

The papal delegate visited the various charitable, educational, and religious institutions conducted by the Catholic churches under the direction of Archbishop Quigley. He celebrated pontifical mass at the Holy Name cathedral, North State and Superior streets, in the morning, and was the guest of Archbishop Quigley and Bishop E. F. Dunne the rest of the day.

The papal delegate will go to Ottawa today for the dedication of parochial schools there. He will be accompanied by a special train of Chicago Knights of Columbus.

London Pastor Preaches in Chicago.

The Rev. G. Campbell Morgan of London conducted the services at the Fourth Presbyterian church, Rush and Superior streets, last night. The Rev. Morgan, who is to give a series of lectures under the auspices of the Moody Bible institute, arrived in Chicago on Saturday from Winona Lake, Ind., where he had been lecturing for ten days.

In his sermon he declared man could not live without worshiping God. He scored atheism and agnosticism, and said that men who declared they did not believe in God were the victims of their own misguided intellect.

Dr. Morgan will preach at the Church of the Covenant, Belden avenue and Halsted street, tonight and tomorrow, and Wednesday and Thursday will address noonday meetings at the Central Y. M. C. A. auditorium.

Willard Hall Meetings.

The following speakers are scheduled for the Willard hall noonday meetings this week: "Lucky" Baldwin tomorrow, the Rev. Frederick W. Backemeyer on Wednesday, and the Rev. D. S. De Ware on Thursday. Dr. O. S. Davis will have charge of the Friday Sunday school lesson. On Saturday the usual prayer and praise service will be held.

Vice President Marshall Talks Before Methodists.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 31.—[Special.]—Thomas Riley Marshall, vice president of the United States, was the principal speaker at a big Methodist campmeeting at Great Falls, Va., about twelve miles from this city.

"I believe in my Bible as it is," said the vice president. "I am not a higher critic, but if I were there would be one commandment I would change. For the sake of justice I would reverse that one to read, 'The sins of the children shall be visited on their parents.'"

"I do not believe," continued the vice president, "that criminals are such from birth, but that children became criminals from being herded with criminals.

"They are sent to Sunday school for a part of Sunday, to regular schools for a part of five days of the week, and the rest of the time they are forgotten and they do as they please. It is high time for American fathers and mothers to have opinions on religion. You wonder why the turkey trot, the tango, and the slit skirt. I say it is because the mothers of this country are not interested in training their children.

"In my state the legislature made it a crime for men to play ninepins. The day after the bill was signed the gamblers added another pin and now they play tenpins. So, while I believe in all good remedial legislation, I do not believe that bad people would be reformed by statutory enactment. It is impossible to change men's heart by law."

Lake County Fair to Open Tomorrow.

Samuel Ingull, proprietor of Hawthorn farm, near Libertyville, Ill., and president of the Lake County Agricultural fair, which opens in that village tomorrow and continues for three days, predicts the show will be bigger and better than ever before, a statement seconded by John R. Thompson.

The big feature of the fair this year is the program of sports. Two races, a 2:24 trot with a purse of $800, and a 2:20 pace with a purse of $600, are the features of a three day racing meet. In addition to these four baseball games, a polo game, and a trap shoot are scheduled.

Luxemburgers Hold Festival.

The tenth annual Schobremesse, which is the largest annual gathering of the Luxemburgers in the middle west, opened at Eberts grove, Rogers Park, yesterday. The program for the two days of the festival, which concludes with an award of prizes this evening, is under the auspices of the third section of the Luxemburger Brotherhood of Chicago, which is composed mostly of market gardeners living in the northern suburbs of the city. The exhibit of home grown vegetables and flowers attracted the principal attention of the visitors, and was unusually complete. The attendance was 8,000.

Abbot Gasquet Coming to U. S.

New York, Aug. 31.—Abbot Dom Gasquet, president of the English Benedictines and chairman of the commission appointed by Pope Pius X. to revise the Latin Bible or Vulgate, will arrive in New York on the George Washington tomorrow morning, to visit the larger cities and explain the progress made by the commission during the last five years.

He will solicit funds for the continuance of the work.

How to Earn Money at Home

The purpose of this department is to find profitable employment for women in occupations which they can carry on at home without interfering with their domestic duties. To stimulate suggestions The Tribune will award $1 each for every help published.

Address—Sally Joy Brown, care The Tribune, Chicago.

The exhibit room in The Tribune Building is open from 9:30 a. m. to 4 p. m. except on Saturday, when it closes at 1 o'clock.

How Would You Like to Be Independent?

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

HAVE you a home with your married sister? Are they all very kind and sweet to you, but do you feel in spite of that that you're a tax upon them? Would you like to be independent?

There are so many girls, young and old, who are in exactly this position, aren't there? I have so many letters that ask for a remedy for just that condition that I feel sometimes as though I'd like to have a big fund started to make it possible for every one of you to be as independent as you would like. But there are no fairy godmothers of that sort any more, so that independence must come by work. After all, that's the nicest sort of independence, isn't it? There's no joy quite so keen as the joy of earning our own independence, is there?

Wouldn't you like to read this letter that came from a girl just like you?

"My mother died two years ago, and ever since then I've been living with my married sister. She won't let me go to work. She says that I have a good home with her and that there's no sense in my wanting to get a position downtown. And then she says that no one wants a woman as old as I am, anyway. I'm not very old, but all of my forty years have been spent taking care of mother, and of course I'm not as young as I would have been if I hadn't had a life of that sort. Not all of my forty years, of course. I must have had a childhood sometime, but I never remember when I wasn't either taking care of mother or of sister. When she married I was very, very happy. I never could marry because I had to take care of mother, but I couldn't expect to be attractive to men when I had never had any education. My school days stopped almost as soon as they began. There were no compulsory education laws in the country then. I've just gone along doing what I had to do in the world and never had time even to save a little money against the time that I should grow old. It always took everything that I could scrape together to keep mother under the doctor's care.

"This sounds like a complaint. I don't mean to have it sound that way. I want you to know all of the facts, though, so that you can understand what a wonderful thing you have done for me. After mother's death my sister sent for me to come to the city to live with her. I know how precious an extra room in the city is, so I wanted to do something to earn a little money so that I could help out. But she wouldn't let me. I grew unhappier and unhappier. I had a good home and plenty to eat, but I never had any money to do with as I wanted. My clothes were getting shabby and I didn't have any money to buy others. And I couldn't ask sister for money.

"Then one day I was reading THE TRIBUNE and I saw 'How to Earn Money at Home.' That caught my eye right away, and before I had read a half dozen lines I was filled with hope, and I sat right down and wrote to you.

"The reason I haven't written to you since then and told you what a wonderful thing you have done for me is because I have been so busy filling my orders that I haven't had time. Now I am making about $5 a week. That isn't a great deal, and of course it isn't enough to support me, but it's enough to make me feel a bit independent and my little business may grow."

Work was her solution of the problem. Why can't it be yours? Have you tried to do work at home? Thousands of women are making money at home right now. There's no reason why you can't. Nothing makes any difference except your earnestness. If you're really and truly eager to earn some money, and if you will work conscientiously, you'll be sure to succeed. There's a little booklet that tells how a hundred women have earned money at home. Wouldn't you like to have it? I'll send it to you with my best wishes if you'll send your name and address to me. Will you? Today?

Articles for Church Fairs.

I have just returned from a visit where I met an aged lady who earns considerable pin money by making fancy white aprons, pin cushions, baby sacques, bibs, and table mats. In the little country town where she lives every year the church holds a fair and all the ladies contribute articles, but some either have not the time or skill to make them and are glad to pay some one for doing it. As most of the articles the lady makes are original they are well worth the money she charges.

HELEN JARVIS, 3 Ten Broeck street, Scotia, Ill.

Pictures at Summer Resort.

One year while at a summer resort I earned quite a little money taking and selling pictures. I developed and printed them myself, thus having the bare cost of material on the expense side. I also met a person who had a better camera than mine, who knew nothing about using it. I bought this of him, paying for it in pictures, and it soon paid for itself.

When in college I reported campus news for one of the daily papers, getting $2 per week at first then later I was paid by the column.

The first year I was married I gave my name to the principal of the high school as a substitute. A few weeks later I was called upon to supply for a teacher into whose family death had come. I earned $15 that week.

Since living in Chicago I have studied china painting and now earn my pin money with my china order work.

M. W. LOCKHART, 5815 Drexel avenue.

Infants' Dresses.

I make my pin money by making infants' dresses by hand. I buy the sheerest lawn at 45 cents a yard, make the dress up very simply, make all the seams by hand, scallop the neck, and put a little dainty embroidery on the yoke. The dress costs me about 75 cents and sells easily for $2.50. Every one is eager to get them for the babies.

MISS DORA TUERK,

Men's Ties.

I know a young woman who makes men's neckties and really makes quite a little money. She goes to a big tie factory once a week and brings several home, and, when she finishes these, gets others to be made up. Of course the factory furnishes all materials. She has become so skillful in her work that she can make six and seven dozen ties in a day. All tie factories are glad to give out such work.

Tutoring Backward Pupils.

Any woman who has had a fair amount of education can earn a little extra money at home by tutoring grammar and high school pupils who are behind in their studies, after school hours. She can make from 35 to 50 cents per hour, according to the study. The work is interesting as well as remunerative.

EMILY A. GOBLE, 4740 North Ashland avenue.

Tablecloth Holders.

Buy pretty flowered cretonne at sales for 18 cents a yard. Cut material three-fourths yard long and one-half yard wide, and line it with white sateen; fold in half and sew sides to make pocket. Fold over other half and sew patent fasteners to each end and one in center. These sell readily for 35 and 50 cents.

ELIZABETH HOLLAND,

Making Wines.

I have a friend who lives just outside of Chicago who makes a good income by drying herbs and making a few wines. She dries catnip, parsley, sage, peppermint, etc.; and she makes dandylion, elderberry, wild cherry, blackberry, raspberry, and such wines.

Miss M. L. SADLER,
4440 North Hermitage avenue.

Selling Vegetables.

I have a son who makes his pin money by selling vegetables. We live near truck farms. Every morning he goes for the vegetables. The people are anxious to pay a few cents more because they are so fresh from the garden. He makes a profit of 3 to 5 cents on everything he sells. He has succeeded so well he has started a bank account.

BIG IOWA "AD" MEETING NEAR; HONESTY WILL BE PREACHED

Opening Day of Davenport Convention Will See Publicity Men in Pulpits Advocating Truth.

Davenport, Ia., Aug. 31.—[Special.]—It is expected that 600 business men will be present at the annual convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of Iowa, which opens here Oct. 19, and lasts four days.

Exhibits of advertising from Baltimore, where the last convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America was held, will be shown. These exhibits will show all kinds of advertising, from raw paper and inks used in printing and lithographing and advertisements, down to original oil paintings made famous on the backs of magazines. A miscellaneous collection of tin, leather, and paper advertising novelties will illustrate advertising specialties.

The large electrically lighted emblem of the national association, which is fifty feet high, and on which is spelled in large electric letters the words "Truth" and "Efficiency," also will be brought from Baltimore and erected on the top of the Commercial Club building.

In addition to the educational features of the convention a Mississippi river clam bake and a pageant of advertising floats will be other attractions.

On Sunday, Oct. 19, the first day of the convention, advertising men, assuming the role of clergymen, will deliver sermons in the Davenport pulpits. These sermons will explain that honesty in advertising is the best policy.

President Woodhead of the national association has promised to attend and occupy one of the pulpits. Many others of national fame will attend.

Mother and Children Deported.

Bloomington, Ill., Aug. 31.—[Special.]—Mrs. Margaret Walsh and her two children were deported to England today after living here a year. It was asserted they came here via Montreal, evading the immigration officers. The weak mind of one child prevented their legal entrance.

ROUSED RESIDENTS FIGHT FIRE WITH NIGHT BUCKET BRIGADE.

Forty Horses Burned and Firemen and Watchman Hurt in Big West Side Barn Blaze.

Several west side families left their residences early yesterday and formed a bucket brigade to fight fire in Keelin Bros.' & Co.'s barn at 4653 Lexington street. Forty horses burned to death and several firemen and a night watchman were hurt. The building was a four story frame structure, used for grain and coal storage. One section was used for horses. Spontaneous combustion is blamed. The flames swept toward adjoining residences arousing the occupants.

John Hunt, a negro watchman, was overcome by smoke when he tried to reach the horses. He was carried to safety by the firemen.

Members of engine company No. 66 were endangered when walls fell. The firemen escaped by dropping to the elevated railroad structure thirty feet below.

Several hundred feet of fire hose was destroyed by the flames. The fire spread rapidly and a 4-11 alarm was sent in. The extra fire fighting strength soon put the fire under control.

The loss was estimated at $75,000. Firemen made an effort to drive the horses from the building, but they would not move from their stalls.

Twenty-three ice wagons were destroyed by flames in the shed of the Boyle Ice company, Seminary avenue and Eddy street. Some hay also was consumed. J. D. Boyle estimated the loss at $10,000, fully covered by insurance.

Economical Housekeeping

By Jane Eddington.

Butter Sauce.

GREAT cooks have a number of sauces and supplies which they call by names such as "foundations," "bases," "elementary preparations," etc. While there is a resemblance between all them, it has been the pride of every cook that his measurements be his own, as surely as his methods.

But there is more uniformity as to measurements among cooks in saucemaking than perhaps in almost anything else, for the reason that there are so many sauces whose character is so universal and definite that a cook cannot depart very far from the recognized standard, for to do so is to show ignorance.

The sauce foundations are for the most part simple, but upon them all varieties of sauces are built up, from the simple to the most elegant. One of the simplest foundations, and one which in general receives only the simplest additions, is the butter sauce. This was a standard sauce with the old fashioned plain cooks, but of late the white sauce has come in largely to take its place.

With the addition of slices of boiled eggs it was an excellent sauce to serve with plain boiled fish, and it was equally good with the boiled potatoes. Without any addition to the butter, flour, and boiling water, it is the thing to use in making a cracker toast, which is an acceptable substitute on Sunday evening when the bread supply is short.

BUTTER SAUCE—Add to two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, two tablespoonfuls of sifted flour. Cook together and dilute with two cups of boiling water. Stir very thoroughly to insure smoothness and cook, but do not allow to boil.

A RICHER BUTTER SAUCE—To the above add just as soon as the water is smoothly stirred in the yolks of three eggs and four tablespoonfuls of cream with a few drops of lemon juice. Rub through a sieve or strainer and finish with two or more tablespoonfuls of fresh butter.

An English sauce for grilled mackerel, and sometimes other fish, is made by adding to a butter sauce a gooseberry pulp—gooseberries cooked, sweetened, and rubbed through a sieve. Preserved gooseberries could be used for this purpose. Caper sauce is sometimes made by adding two tablespoonfuls of capers to a pint of butter sauce, but most cooks prefer to use the liquid in which mutton is boiled for a sauce, which is otherwise made like the butter sauce, and add the capers to this.

MUSTARD SAUCE—Add mustard to a butter sauce in the proportion of one tablespoonful of mustard to a pint of sauce. This is good to serve with the little fried or grilled fish, like fresh salt water herring and their fresh water relatives.

PARSLEY SAUCE—Make in the same way as the mustard sauce by adding a heaped up tablespoonful of chopped parsley to a pint of sauce. Fennel is sometimes used instead of parsley.

A horseradish sauce may be made in something the same way, but the grated root, about a quarter of a pound of it, is first stewed in a half cup of meat stock for twenty minutes before it is added to the butter sauce.

A RICH HORSERADISH SAUCE—To make a richer horseradish sauce add half a pint of cream and half a pint of butter sauce to the grated and cooked horseradish sauce, then thicken with a tablespoonful of bread crumbs. Rub through a strainer, then add the yolks of two eggs. Finally add a teaspoonful of mustard dissolved in a tablespoonful of vinegar, if to taste. This is an excellent sauce, for those who like it, to serve with roastbeef.

SAUCE BLANCHE—There is very little difference between the white sauce and the béchamel. A lump of butter is put into a saucepan on a slow fire and a large spoonful of flour worked into it until they are well mixed. Instead of milk, water is added, and the sauce is turned constantly with a wooden spoon for a quarter of an hour until quite smooth, and when ready is salted and peppered and improved with an extra lump of butter as is the béchamel. If the sauce becomes uneven, a little cold water and a little more energy while stirring it with the spoon will remedy the defects.

The "sauce poulette" of the French is sometimes nothing more than a buter sauce to which the beaten yolk of an egg is added, then a little vinegar or juice of a lemon, salt, and pepper.

Lillian Russell's Beauty Secrets.

Color of Teeth.

[Copyright: 1913: By Lillian Russell.]

If you prefer to have your question answered by individual letter please send stamped envelope.

I HAVE seen a child with teeth so white and transparent that the reflection from the rosy gums and lips gave the teeth the appearance of being tinted with rose. We all know that white, chalky teeth are indicative of an anæmic nature. They are never pretty. Beautiful teeth should be a creamy white, whose whiteness is enhanced by the richness of the coloring in face and lips.

Healthy women and men have white teeth; not a chalky white, but a pure, clear, creamy white.

Nothing discolors the teeth so quickly as stomach troubles. So keep your stomach machinery working regularly. Never overfeed your engine, and drink plenty of water between meals. Use a good tooth paste or powder, and rinse the mouth after each meal. Your teeth will be healthy and beautiful.

Remember: The teeth are telltales of your secret habits.

Lillian Russell's Answers.

ALICE: I would advise you to have the growth of hair taken off with the electric needle. This is the safest and most effective way of removing it, and will not leave a scar if it is done by an expert.

NANNIE: Olive oil taken every morning half an hour before breakfast is good for removing liver spots and otherwise clearing the complexion. Take a teaspoonful of the best olive oil before breakfast and the same quantity half an hour after the latest meal. You must, however, persist in this treatment to get the desired results. The unsweetened juice of a lemon in a glass of water every morning before breakfast is also beneficial for this purpose. Drink plenty of cool, not iced, water between meals. Proper facial massage daily with a good skin food will help to eradicate wrinkles. I shall send you the formula for skin food with complete instructions for facial massage if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

MISS LULU D.: The tincture of green soap is not the green soap to be used in the treatment of blackheads. This green soap is not green in color, but yellow, and comes in a paste form; in other words, it is unripe or soft soap. I am sure your druggist could get it for you at the wholesale house or from a larger drug store.

GLADYS: If you would apply a good cold cream to your face before going out into the cold air you would find that this will protect your face and keep it from chapping. Apply a small amount of the cream to your face and then take the surplus cream off with a soft cloth. Apply a good face powder over the cream. I shall send you the formula for a good nongreasy hand lotion if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

BLANK: I cannot print the dietary for reducing flesh, on account of lack of space; but I will be happy to send it to you if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope. To bleach the fingernails, wind a bit of absorbent cotton around the end of an orangewood stick, then dip it in peroxide and run under the nails. I shall also send you the formula for a hair tonic which is excellent for dandruff and falling hair.

SUBURBANITE: There surely is some other cause for your hair falling than studying. The little studying you do each day would not make your hair fall as excessively as you say it does. I think you need something to stimulate the roots of your hair. There is nothing better for this than a good hair tonic and scalp massage. Massage your scalp for about ten or fifteen minutes each night, using a hair tonic. The massage will loosen the scalp and nourish the roots of the hair, giving it more life and luster, and will also stop the falling. If you will send me a stamped addressed envelope I shall gladly send you the full instructions for scalp massage and the formula for hair tonic. I have perfect faith in this hair tonic and know that it will help you.

KATHERINE: Apply a curling fluid to your hair before putting it up on curlers. This will keep it in curl for three or four days. Here is the formula for a curling fluid: Three ounces of quince seed juice, two drams of boric acid, one-half ounce of spirits of wine, and three ounces of water. If you would use the old fashioned curling kids I think you would get more satisfactory results from them. They give the hair a pretty soft wave and will not break the hair. You can get them in three sizes at any department store. The large ones are used for your long hair, the medium sized ones for the short locks around the face, and the small ones for the stray hairs at the back of the neck.

Scalloped Corn.

MIX three beaten eggs with one pint canned corn; add one teacup rich milk, one tablespoon sugar, one tablespoon butter, one teaspoon salt, one-quarter teaspoon pepper. Just before pouring into buttered pan add one-third teaspoon baking powder. Bake until firm in center.—Kindness of G. O. S.

Chicken Salad Sandwiches.

Mix chopped cold chicken with a mayonnaise dressing and spread on thin bread and butter or on split rolls. It is more acceptable than a plain chicken sandwich.—Kindness of N. S.

Regarding Maid's Wages.

"Will you kindly inform me if a working woman, engaged by the month, gets discharged without notice, though fully competent, and the person who discharged her tries to pay her for the days she worked, is she not entitled to a full month's pay? Can her employer be compelled to pay her?

"AN EMPLOYE."

I am not conversant with the laws of your state. In the eastern states if the engagement be made for the month and the employer discharges the maid (except for gross faults, such as dishonesty) before the specified time is up, she is bound to pay the month's wages. I have known of servants who made a practice of displeasing the employer in some way at the end of a week or so, obliging her to dismiss them peremptorily, then demanding the month's wage before they could leave. One maid boasted of having "worked" four places in one month by this trick. Until American housewives learn to be true to their order, and to establish fixed laws for the regulation of domestic service, questions like that you ask will remain unsettled.

Will Kansas housemothers advise us with regard to laws on this subject in their state?

Wants Her Song Published.

"I have been trying for a long time to get a song brought out. I have no money, and as there is an element of chance connected with the publishing of popular music, no one will help me. I have listened to arguments for and against my plan, but I have just as much faith in my song as ever. If I only could get started I am sure I could make money at it, and thus lift myself out of the perdition of poverty in which I now exist. Tied down by household duties and weakened by ill health, I can make no money. I am in doubt as to a publisher for my song, but I know there are plenty of substantial publishers who will do their part in the transaction.

"I have only the verses for the song; the music will have to be composed by the publisher. I know there are thousands of ambitious song writers, but I know I can make good at this line of work. It's often just little simple, rollicking songs that make 'hits.' I do want to become self-supporting, and help others!

MARGARET C."

I wish I could encourage you to hope that your line of money making is likely to succeed. If you knew more of literary work you would choose any other honest employment. In the first place, publishers do not set songs to music, or trouble themselves to have it done. Music and words, fitly married, are put into their hands to be judged by experts. Even when a song is published the remuneration is not ample in one out of a thousand instances.

This sounds ungracious, but I do not speak inadvisedly. The ranks of all branches of literature are cruelly crowded. The tyro has little chance of gaining the ear of publisher, editor, or public, unless he possesses gifts of a high order.

I would encourage you if I could. It is truer kindness to tell the plain truth.

"Truly Sure Cure" for Ants.

"1. I should be very thankful if some one in the Corner knew of a 'truly sure' cure for ants. I am almost eaten up with them.

"2. Also, may I ask for a recipe for Yorkshire pudding, and the sauce that goes with it?

M. C."

1. Set saucers containing sugar and water mixed with tartar emetic, upon shelves and in closets infested by the little pests. They will devour the sweet eagerly and die by the dozen. Sweep up dead and dying and burn them forthwith. If the ants are in wardrobes scatter whole cloves freely among the clothing therein contained.

N. B.: Keep the saucers of poisoned sirup out of the possible reach of children.

2. Yorkshire pudding is not a sweet, as you seem to imagine, but a batter pudding, served with roast beef.

YORKSHIRE PUDDING—Sift an even teaspoonful of salt and one of baking powder twice with a pint of flour. Beat two eggs light; add to them two cupfuls of milk; turn in the sifted flour and mix quickly. Have ready in a roasting pan six tablespoonfuls of fat reserved from the drippings from the roast of beef, and set it upon the upper grating of the oven. When it begins to bubble hard, pour the batter you have made into it, and cook quickly to a golden brown. Cut into squares and lay about the roast beef when the meat is served. The old-fashioned way adopted by English cooks of cooking the pudding under the beef in the oven, or under the spit, was not so easy or so sure of gaining the desired results as the shorter method I have described.

"The Faded Coat of Blue."

"In a late issue of the Corner is an offer by 'M. D.' to send the words of the song, 'The Faded Coat of Blue.' I have tried for a long time to get these words, and will gladly pay postage upon them. GEORGE E. J."

If "F. W.'s" offer still holds good, will she communicate with us, signifying her willingness to oblige the applicant? The tender was made some time ago, and she may have changed her mind or location.

We hold the address of "George E. J."

To Keep Off Mosquitoes.

"I wish to pass on a useful piece of information in regard to mosquitoes. If a person will rub a little pennyroyal on the hands and face the mosquito will not serenade, but will go away in disgust, to picnic elsewhere.

"MRS. J. E."

Laura Jean Libbey's Advice

By Laura Jean Libbey

The Sad Heart of a Seamstress.

[Copyright: 1913: By Laura Jean Libbey.]

If you prefer to have your question answered by individual letter please send stamped envelope.

MUCH has been said of the lonely lives of many of the girls in shop and factory, but there is another class of women whose lives are more desolate by far, for they are narrowed down to four walls, without the privilege of getting God's pure air coming and going from work.

The seamstress is the poorest paid among the working women. Her wealthy patron who would think nothing of paying any exorbitant sum that might be charged for her luncheon at a fashionable restaurant, will not hesitate to cut down the poor seamstress to the lowest possible notch, and expect her to do $10 worth of work for $5 pay. She is cross and pettish while being fitted. She has no patience with the poor, tired seamstress and multiplies every little imaginary fault until it amounts to ripping the entire dress apart and remaking it to suit some whim which does not meet the patron's expectation, when it is changed her way.

This means extra work for the weary, overworked seamstress, with no additional pay. Even after sending the gown home the poor seamstress' troubles are not ended. It has taken her to almost midnight, by the light of an oil lamp, to put in those stitches. She was sternly told that it must be there early in the morning for her maid to pack.

She presents her modest little bill to the butler as she hands him the package. She makes bold enough to falter that she would like the money; she needs it so very, very much. Madam is receiving guests; she couldn't possibly be disturbed, she is informed, as the man proceeds to close the door upon her. "Come around tomorrow, and if she has time madam will see you," adds the man as she turns away, unable to hide the keen disappointment in her face. She walked the long distance a second time, arriving early in the morning, only to find the house boarded up for the summer, and all gone away.

Seamstress' bills seem such trifles that many rich women actually forget them until after they are comfortably settled and don the dresses, which their women friends fairly rave over. They make up their minds that they will pay their seamstress immediately upon their return home, and think no more about it.

If women were but considerate of their sister women, half of life's burden would be lifted from the shoulders of the struggling poor. It is the little things which count in making life pleasant or unbearable for the seamstress. The woman who is pleasant, reasonable, and pays promptly when her work is finished earns her gratitude. The woman who returns a dress because it happens to be shy a hook here or there, or because a bow of ribbon happens to be pinned instead of stitched, is her especial torment. Perhaps the poor seamstress lacked just that one hook on her card, needed to sew on. To get it would cost her a mile's walk to the store. Even the best of seamstresses are liable to forget such a trifle—many a woman would take this into consideration and sew on the missing hook without comment.

There are women, too, who give the poor seamstress an order for costly materials, and after the garments are purchased and the material, also the dress half cut, she takes a notion to countermand the order, without a thought as to the great expense, time, and labor lost, to which she has subjected the tired seamstress. There is no redress for this sort of outrage; the seamstress dare not offend her wealthy patrons.

Many a tear is sewn in among the filmy frills and flounces, the bows and buckles. If women but understood the sad life, aye the sad heart, of their seamstresses, they would deal gently and more liberally with them.

Both Are 21.

"Dear Miss Libbey: Until recently I was employed by a young man who seemed to think a great deal of me; in fact, it was noticeable, and he was accused of partiality toward me. He is called bashful. I have learned to love him, and even now, try as I will, I cannot forget him. When we meet he always stands and talks and inquires particularly how I like my place and where I live. Now, do you think he likes me and would it be all right for me to ask him to come to my home, or shall I wait until he asks for the privilege? We are both 21 years old. DELIA."

You might invite the young man to call. It is the girl's privilege to extend the invitation.

Gladys Wishes Her Name Given.

"Dear Miss Libbey: Do you ever receive letters from young people asking addresses of young people to write to? If you do have such letters will you please give my address to a young man of whom you approve? I am 19, a brunette, weight 116, height 5 feet 4 inches. GLADYS."

I am sorry, but it would be utterly impossible for me to assume a responsibility such as the exchanging of addresses. I do not approve of friendships that are made in such a way. They rarely ever prove satisfactory. Try to get interested in some young man in your own community—one whom you know to be a desirable person.

M'DERMOTT FAILS; HIS DEFENSE WEAK

Testimony Does Not Disprove Charges Which Were Laid Against Him.

NEW TURN FOR INQUIRY.

High Officials of N. A. M. Will Be Called to Stand During Next Week.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 31.—[Special.]—Representative James T. McDermott rested his defense yesterday before the house lobby investigating committee without making an attempt to clear up three serious allegations against him and without asking the house committee to subpœna the man who is alleged to have bribed him with $2,000 to support Speaker Cannon in the rules fight of 1909.

As far as can be learned, the defense did nothing to obtain the appearance of John A. McDermott, manager of the United States Brewers' association, and the committee does not appear to be particularly anxious to haul the brewers' lobby into the investigation at this time.

Admissions by McDermott.

An examination of McDermott's testimony, according to those who heard it, indicates that McDermott admitted—

1. That he accepted loans aggregating $1,000, wholly unsecured and without the payment of interest, from the leading pawnbroker and note broker of Washington at a time when there was pending in congress a bill which subsequently put that pawnbroker and many other "loan sharks" out of business.

2. That he solicited these loans and has never returned them.

3. That he accepted a loan of $500 from the lobbyist of the Retail Liquor Dealers' association, while a drastic regulation bill—virtually a prohibition measure—was pending in congress and was the center of a not wet and dry fight.

4. That he solicited this loan and has neither curtailed nor paid interest on the ninety day note he gave in return.

5. That although the charges against McDermott, made by M. M. Mulhall and I. H. McMichael, declared that John A. McDermott of the United Brewers was tied up with Horning and Representative McDermott in fighting the "loan shark" bill, and that he paid $2,000 to McDermott's 1910 campaign fund because of the latter's support of Cannon the year before, the defense made no attempt to procure John McDermott's appearance before the committee.

New Channels for Inquiry.

As far as can be decided, the committee has concluded the McDermott phase of its investigation. Mulhall is expected to resume the stand Tuesday to testify on his charges against other members of congress. The committee has not determined what part will be taken up next.

The senate committee, which also will resume its sessions Tuesday, expects to wind up with officers of the N. A. M. before the end of the week. The examinations of General Counsel Emery, Ferd C. Schwedtman, formerly secretary to President Van Cleave of the N. A. M., and H. E. Miles, formerly chairman of the executive committee of the tariff commission association, developed much in confirmation of the Mulhall charges against the association. Commencing Tuesday, John Kirby Jr. and David Parry, expresidents of the N. A. M., and other officers will be placed on the stand, the intention of the committee being to conclude the examination of N. A. M. officers as quickly as possible and then to recess until after the tariff bill is passed.

I. C. MONROE STREET BRIDGE TO BE READY IN TWO MONTHS.

Completion of Concrete Structure Intended to Make Grant Park More Accessible to the Public.

An ornamental concrete bridge for pedestrians and vehicles is being constructed by the Illinois Central railroad over its right of way to Grant park at the foot of Monroe street. The foundation work is partly completed and the bridge is expected to be ready in two months.

Thousands of persons practically never visit Grant park because of the long walk to the Van Buren and Randolph street bridges. The south park board in ordering the railroad to do the work, shows a new attitude toward the development of the park. According to the general superintendent, J. F. Foster, the commissioners intend to make the lake front accessible and attractive, although the final plans for its treatment have not been completed.

"We ordered the bridge about a year ago," said Mr. Foster. "Its erection was delayed by the fact that the commissioners had not decided where to have it placed. The bridge will be similar to that at Van Buren street in size and general construction, but it probably will be more ornamental."

CUNARD COMPANY ABANDONS QUEENSTOWN AS CALLING PORT.

First Break in Service Occurs—Liner Mauretania Anchors Outside Harbor—Takes Mails, No Passengers.

QUEENSTOWN, Ireland, Aug. 31.—The first break in the Cunard service by way of Queenstown occurred today. The Mauretania omitted Queenstown as a port of call on its westward voyage. It anchored several miles off the port, embarking the mails, but no passengers, 250 of whom had been instructed to proceed to Liverpool to join the ship.

The abandonment of Queenstown as a port of call for the big Cunard line mail steamers was the subject of vigorous speeches in the house of commons recently. The contention was made that without first getting the sanction of parliament, which ratified the Cunard contract, the government had no right to assent to the company breaking its terms.

Postmaster General Samuel said he had given "no formal assent" to the Cunard line's proposal to omit calling at Queenstown.

The company takes the ground that it is dangerous for such large vessels as the Mauretania and Lusitania to enter that harbor.

Sift Death on Operating Table.

The death of Mrs. Cecelia Bosofin on the operating table at St. Luke's hospital on Saturday is to be investigated by the coroner. The woman lived at 637 East Forty-third street. Dr. James T. Campbell, 4621 Woodlawn avenue, her physician, said the death would be duly explained.

STATISTICAL REVIEW OF FINANCIAL WEEK THE WORLD OVER

Relatively unimportant changes in security prices in spite of exciting developments in Mexico. Decided firmness in many of the standard shares, with strong undertone. Dull trading much of the time, with fair rallies following occasional reactions. Foreign exchange market develops weakness on the offering of bills against foreign participants of various bond syndicate operations. Money rates easier in New York, with offerings of "over the year" money by foreign bankers at 5 per cent.

NOTICE OF ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the stockholders and bondholders of the Chicago and North Western Railway Company will be held at the office of the Company, 226 West Jackson Boulevard, in the City of Chicago, Illinois, on Thursday, October 16, 1913, at eleven o'clock A. M., for the election of directors and the transaction of such other business as may come before said meeting.

The terms and conditions of the purchase of the railroad and property of the St. Louis, Peoria and Northwestern Railway Company, an Illinois corporation, a proprietary company, the capital stock of which is owned by the Chicago and North Western Railway Company, as agreed upon between the directors of the purchasing and selling corporations, will be submitted to the stockholders for approval.

Transfer books will be closed on Monday, September 15, 1913, at the close of business on that day, and will be re-opened on Friday, October 17, 1913. Bondholders will authenticate their voting bonds by registration.

Dated, August 8, 1913.

"Occasional Wants"
In the Way of Service And Who Supply Them

Under this heading The Tribune prints a personal and household "want filler" that is novel, unique and very useful.

Each of the tradesmen whose notices appear below performs the kind of service that all of us need at some time. A glance will show that their trades are unusual, out of the ordinary. Being unusual and little advertised, it was difficult to find these workers when most wanted.

"Occasional Wants" supplies the desired name and address at a moment's notice. It is good to consult and to keep by you. It appears, with additions, in The Tribune on Monday mornings.

MAN—IT USUALLY TAKES A "BIG RECORD," skill, and long experience in most lines to qualify for an important sales position. Not so, however, with one of Chicago's well known corporations handling high grade investments. They are seeking inexperienced salesmen, provided the individual has strong natural abilities and aspires to get away from monotonous detail, who have lived in or near Chicago for some years and will take up such work with vim and determination. Liberal remuneration will be paid while they are training you for their special work. Must give age and business experience to receive attention. Address F K 499, Tribune.

MAN—THE NOVICE CAN FREQUENTLY OUTdistance the expert. If he has a strong personality and character, keen natural abilities, and goes at his work with enthusiasm, he usually wins. A large Chicago corporation, handling high grade investments, prefers the novice for their work, if he is built along the lines above indicated. We can show him how to be successful if he will follow our proven methods and suggestions. Must be old enough to command respect, and have a strong following in or near Chicago. Liberal remuneration from the start. Give age and business experience. Address F K 501, Tribune.

A GREAT MONEY MAKING OPPORTUNITY.

The one thing for which there is the greatest known demand in the world today is BETTER and SAFER LIGHT for the farm and suburban home—I have it—a beautiful bright, white electric light that can be installed at a moderate price and maintained at small expense, and no possible chance for fire or explosion, no machinery. This proposition will bear closest investigation and the demand is worldwide. There is a great opportunity for quick returns from the sale of State and Territory rights, as well as from the sale of plants. I need money to manufacture these plants and push the sale of territory, or will sell controlling interest to right parties. If you are interested and have capital address A O 31, Tribune.

WE WILL SELL AND RENT ANY LEGITImate Business, such as theaters, stores of all descriptions.
THIS IS OUR BUSINESS.
We are in touch all the time with prospective buyers who are looking for something in your line, and if your price is right and you have something to offer for time money, there is no reason why our method should not bring you the desired results in a short time.

New Fall Models in Women's Suits & Gowns

An increasing tendency toward elegance and beauty is expressed in the rich fabrics and the studied—though seemingly simple—grace of line of these models.

Velour-de-laine in plain, striped and checked colors is prominent; peau de peche, another foreign fabric, is especially favored in such lovely colors as Russian green, Bengaise, Prune and the new browns, ranging from light to the dark seal shades. Mole, Burgundy, navy and black are equally acceptable.

Suits—Trimmings of plush and fur are much in use and fancy waistcoats of imported figured fabrics are equally prominent. Prices range from $45 to $97.50

Suits—Attractive models of the new domestic fabrics—with fancy, semi-trimmed and plain tailored coats—in all sizes—are priced from $25 to $40

One-piece crepe de chine frocks in navy, taupe, blue, brown and black in various models for street and informal afternoon wear—priced $25 to $35

Afternoon gowns in pretty soft colorings are developed of Canton crepe, crepe meteor and brocades. Some of the models are plush trim'd. Priced $40 to $75

The Clearance Sale Continues

Women's wash frocks of lingerie, linen and voile, and wash suits and skirts—as well as many desirable suits of wool, and silk frocks and suits—are greatly reduc'd.

Fourth floor, North room.

Women's Fall Top Coats

The new woolens and pile fabrics used in these street and motor coats are impressively thick and warm looking, yet light in weight. Many are cut to accentuate the wide effect below the hips; others are belted at lowered waist lines. Draped and straight models in peau de peche, vicuna, zibeline, broadtail brocaded plushes and velours are well represented.

We feature some especially smart utility coats of eponge, chinchilla, tweeds, velour astrakhans and plushes, at, each... $25.00

Fourth floor, North room.

Continuing the Sale of Furs

The marked appreciation accorded the August Sale prompts us to continue offering the special prices for two weeks more in order to enable those patrons who were out of town during the month of August to share in these money-saving opportunities.

We emphasize for the coming week furs that have won widespread favor because of their extreme attractiveness.

Imported Millinery

To the foreign designers for the original, the artistic and unique we still go. Paris lends an unmistakable distinction to her creations, as evidenced by this showing of imported hats.
